$2,000,000 IN WOOD BOOM

One Million Already Spent, Says Republican Leader; Lowden's 'Bag' Full

New York, March 4.—General Wood's campaign managers have spent $1,000,000 and are collecting another million for nation-wide primaries, according to a Republican leader of national repute.

"Governor Lowden's managers have spent less than a million, because they are hustling in balance-of-power States only. The proportion of expenditures, however, is even greater than those of the Wood managers," was the declaration of another Republican leader who has travelled in nearly every State within the last six months.

The foregoing statements were comments upon the allegation of Senator Hiram W. Johnson that:

"It is obvious that South Dakota has become a tremendous battleground of wealth and power and financial resources of my two leading opponents."

Norman J. Gould, Eastern manager for General Wood, commenting on Senator Johnson's charge, said unconcernedly:

"Don't make me laugh, for my lip is cracked."

It developed that the Wood managers long ago expended the $300,000 collected by John T. King, the ousted field marshal. This contribution came chiefly from $250,000 advanced by Ambrose Monell, of the Copper Trust, and Otto H. Kahn, of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

With the retirement of Mr. King, Colonel William Copper Proctor, his successor, set about raising the largest amount possible to finance the pre-Presidential primaries and

STORROW DEFENDANT IN SUIT OVER COAL

James J. Storrow, head of the Fuel Conservation Committee, and five Lowell men, were today sued for $35,000 by Charles Lajoit of Lowell, a coal dealer. Lajoie charges that the men named "conspired together and carried away or caused to be carried away" coal on his property, and that as a result his business was ruined. The Lowell defendants are Albert D. Milliken, Herbert J. Ball John M. O'Donohue, Daniel T. Sullivan, and the Horne Coal Company. Other suits in the same action total $205,000.

The check was mailed by the Winthrop Co-operative Bank February 11 and extracted from the mail, according to Joseph W. Grimes who intimates Federal prosecution will follow.

Mrs. Nelson Admits She Was Registered by That Name in New York Hotel

Mrs. Eva Guptill Nelson in the divorce court at East Cambridge today described the week-end spent in a New York hotel with James B. Green, named by her husband, Ernest E. Nelson.

The woman declared that Green registered "Mr. and Mrs. James B. Green of Boston," without her knowledge or consent, and insisted on remaining in the rooms all night.

She urged him to leave, she said, but rather than cause a scene permitted him to sleep on a couch in the living room while she and her small daughter Nancy occupied the bedroom.

Questioned by Attorney Henry F. Hurlburt, counsel for Nelson, the witness testified that Green volun-

"SNOW SUBWAYS" FOR SHOPPERS IN HOULTON

Houlton, Me., March 4.—"Snow subways" for shoppers are the latest novelty in northern Maine. Drifts are so gigantic that tunnels have been made to enable pedestrians to cross streets. There are quite a few of these "subways" in this town, where snow is piled ten to twelve feet high. Lumber operations have been seriously crippled and the potato industry has suffered owing to a famine in freight cars.

SEEK NEW YORK BANK MESSENGER

New York, March 4.—The police are searching for a missing messenger of the First National Bank, who dropped out of sight with checks estimated at $77,000. The young man was said to have failed to return to the bank after making part of his scheduled collections. Vice-President Bartow said that he could make no charges until it was learned if the messenger had met with an accident or foul play. When last seen the young man had a sum of money believed to have been about $2,200.

DEMANDS LIFE OF SAMMARCO

Deliberately Planned to Kill Clancey, Says Pelletier; Slayer Weeps in Agony

Joseph Sammarco wept hysterically today during the arraignment of District Attorney Pelletier, who demanded that a verdict of first degree murder be returned against him as the slayer of Patrolman William G. Clancey.

The breakdown of the prisoner came when the prosecuting attorney pointed at him and shouted, "There sits a murderer and a perjurer."

Mr. Pelletier attacked the self-defence theory, and declared that a verdict of second degree murder would be hailed with cheers in the underworld.

"The issue here is law and order," said the District Attorney. "It is for you to say whether our police shall be protected. This man meant to kill Clancey on the night of January 2 in Roughan Hall. He has lied on the witness stand and exhibited for your benefit an emotion which was not real.

"This man was one of a gang that deliberately planned to 'clean up' the dead patrolman. I leave the case in your hands, confident of the proper verdict."

As the District Attorney brought his argument toward a close several women relatives of the accused man broke down and cried.

Attorney Thomas J. Grady argued at length for the defence. He declared that Sammarco was a boy with a good record, both civil and military, and that the shooting of Clancey was an accident.

"This man Di Franco hated Sammarco," said the attorney. "He had brought his insults to a climax by a threat to kill the defendant. In fear for his safety the prisoner drew a gun and at that moment his arm was jostled by a dancer. The bullet hit Clancey and the patrolman died."

Recess was taken at the close of the arguments. Judge John F. Brown delivered his charge when court was reconvened, after which the case went to the jury.

U.S. CONSULATE BOMBED

COLLISION IN FOG IS FATAL

Two Die and Many Are Injured When Fire Truck and Car Crash

Haverhill, March 4.—Two firemen were killed and several persons were injured as the result of a collision between an inbound trolley car and a fire motor truck today. George E. Taylor, driver of the truck, and Henry Christensen, fireman, were killed. Eugene Walker, another fireman, was injured.

The accident was due to fog, which prevented Taylor or Motorman George Banks of the trolley car from seeing each other until within about ten feet. The fire truck was using the car track, which is depressed about a foot below the level of the snow.

QUICK ACTION, TOO LATE.

Banks instantly reversed his motor and put on the brakes. Taylor tried to turn the truck out of the car tracks, with the result that the front wheels left the track and the rear of the truck crashed into the vestibule of the car, "sideswiping" its entire length.

In the electric car were sixty-six passengers, many of them from Groveland, including women and girls, chiefly workers in factories. All were severely shaken and many were bruised and cut by flying glass.

The vestibule of the car was demolished and every window was broken. The truck was completely wrecked. Taylor was thrown forty feet.

WOMAN IS INJURED.

Ralph E. Coburn of Groveland, a passenger on the car, was taken to the Hale Hospital and treated for a sprained knee and ankle. William Hall and Helen Bowen, both of Groveland, were severely shaken and cut by flying glass.

The fire apparatus was returning from a fire at the tenement of Mrs. Joshua T. Matthews on Portland street, during which Mrs. Ellen Kelatt, eighty-four, was taken from an upper tenement. She was overcome by smoke.

Taylor, the dead chauffeur, had been a call fireman for twenty-five years and a permanent fireman for four. He would have been fifty-three years old March 18. His wife, Louise, was with him when he died. Christensen had been on the force only two months.

ANARCHIST PLOT AT ZURICH

U. S. Consular Office Imperilled by Bomb, Washington Is Informed

By International News Service.

Washington, March 4.—The building occupied by the American consul-general at Zurich, Switzerland, was partly destroyed last night by a bomb explosion, the State Department was advised today. No one was injured by the explosion.

The dispatch stated that the explosion was attributed to anarchistic activities.

The building occupied by the offices of the consul-general was also the residence of American Consul Alfred W. Donegan. No government property was destroyed by the explosion.

The dispatch did not state whether the "anarchistic activities" were directed toward the Americans or not.

CHARGES NITTI MADE "DANGEROUS PROPOSALS"

Paris, March 4.—"Pertinax," political editor of the Echo de Paris, telegraphing from London today, accused Premier Nitti of Italy of making "dangerous proposals" regarding the German peace treaty and suggesting revisions of the Hungarian treaty. According to "Pertinax," Premier Nitti suggested that the Hungarian terms be changed to give Hungary 3,000,000 Magyars that were to be included in territory alloted to Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia.

OPPOSE PROPOSAL FOR R. I. TO BUY TROLLEYS

Providence, March 4.—State ownership of trolley lines was opposed at a secret conference of Republican Assembly leaders who considered the recommendation of the receivers of the trolley lines for such a change. "If it is a good thing, let the financial interests promote it," said the legislators. The receivers said bonds of $18,000,000 issued by the State would insure continued trolley service for twenty-five years, after which the State would own the trolleys without payment of one dollar.

TROLLEY CAR CRASH, CARMAN IS INJURED

North Andover, March 4.—George Mindens, an employe of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, sustained three broken ribs and a number of other persons were bruised when two trolley cars collided near Stevens' Corner today. The collision was said to have been due to a dense fog which confused the drivers of a passenger car and a workmen's trolley.

Bank Messenger Victim; Two Men Are Held for Hearing

The fact that a messenger of the International Trust Company was robbed of $1,100 on the Common last week became known today when James O'Brien and Walter Feeney were arraigned in Municipal Court.

The two men were charged with the larceny of a pocketbook containing $27 and the attempted larceny of an overcoat in one of the lavatories on the Common.

According to the police they have been hanging about this vicinity for some time, and it is believed they robbed the bank messenger.

He was summoned to headquarters to attempt to identify the two men. They were held in $1,000 each for a hearing a week from today.

COMPLAINT FILED BY JERSEY

State, in Attack on "Dry" Law, Declares It Was Illegally Adopted

By International News Service.

Washington, March 4.—The State of New Jersey filed today in the United States Supreme Court a bill of complaint asking that the prohibition amendment and the Volstead enforcement act be declared null and void.

Joseph A. Lanigan, assistant Attorney-General of New Jersey, filed the bill of complaint, which was drawn by Attorney-General McCran by the authority of Governor Edwards, elected on a "wet platform" last November.

One of the objects of the suit is to prevent United States Attorney-General Palmer and Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper from enforcing the Volstead act in New Jersey.

Attorney-General McCran will appear in the Supreme Court Monday to proceed with the suit. New Jersey charges that the eighteenth amendment is null and void for these reasons:

OBJECTIONS EXPLAINED.

That the eighteenth amendment is not proper under Article V. of the Constitution. There is no power in Congress to propose an amendment regulating conduct and morals and that Article V. permits only such amendments as are alterations or additions within the scope of the Constitution.

That there is no power in the States to ratify an amendment such as the eighteenth.

That two-thirds of the members of both houses of Congress "did not deem such an amendment necessary" within the true intent and meaning of Article V. of the Constitution.

That the prohibition contained in the amendment is legislative matter, under Article I. of the Constitution.

Measures That Would Cure Most of the Troubles and Tendencies Which Distress and Alarm Us Today

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Officials Responsible for the "Hard-Boiled" Order Should Be Removed

The officials of the Federal Board for Vocational Education responsible for the following order to the board's field agents, who judge training claims of disabled soldiers and sailors of the late war, should be removed summarily from the service of the government:

> The organs used in approving cases are the eyes and the brain. The ears and the heart do not function. BE HARD BOILED. Members of the district office staffs will beat you over the head with verbal presure. District pressure causes all our mistakes. Put cotton in your ears and lock the doors. If you are naturally sympathetic, work nights when nobody is there. Accept advice from Central office. Take all the cigarettes you can get from members of the district staffs, but no advice.

This is the infamous "hard-boiled" order. It is indicative of character and disposition that is sadly out of place in the department of government charged with the sacred duty of assuring happy and useful futures to our disabled heroes.

Several months ago the Hearst papers charged that the expert code makers of this Federal board had decreed a secret policy of operation that would just about completely thwart the wishes of the people and Congress relative to the care and repair of the disabled.

That policy was to cut out sentiment in handling boys, to consider all cases from a cold-blooded standpoint and to disregard absolutely the question of reward for sacrifice and service and also the glowing promises of training made by the board in the early stages of its career.

This "hard-boiled" order is the proof of those charges and of the necessity for the immediate discharge of those officials of the board who are in sympathy with it. They do not reflect or interpret the sentiment of the country. They are not competent to pass upon the claims of a wounded American soldier, sailor or marine. The best they do will please but very few. Their continuation in power will destroy the faith of the former service men in the good intentions of their government. And that is the very worst thing that could possibly happen.

The new chief of the rehabilitation branch of the board has given positive evidence of a desire to make the most of his job in the behalf of the disabled. He should not be handicapped by "hard-boiled" superiors or assistants.

Based on Falsehood, the New R. R. Law Cannot Endure

In the new railroad law we have another example of the truth once aptly stated by Grover Cleveland that > unorganized good intentions cannot successfully contend for the mastery against the combined efforts of avarice and greed.

The majority of citizens, and, we believe also, a majority of their representatives in office, do not want laws which favor classes of the people at the expense of the many.

But when a thoroughly organized special interest persists for years without adequate check in pouring cunning propaganda into the public ear, public opinion is deceived and public officials follow it astray.

This is what has happened now with the railroads. A decision has been reached on false premises. It, therefore, cannot stand.

The false premise is the widespread opinion that the Interstate Commerce Commission's former policy of rate regulation was not fair.

How many times have you seen the statement that the troubles of the railroads were of government origin; that the commission had viewed its job too narrowly; that the effect of its policy was to "starve" the railroads, break down their credit and thus imperil necessary improvements and extensions?

Because of such repetition and because there has existed no agency sufficiently diligent to expose these misstatements, they came in time to be accepted as true.

The intentions of those, in and out of Congress, who fell victims to this propaganda were good, but their goodness was unorganized, their vigilance was idle and the expertly managed special interest found them easy prey.

Federal regulation of railroads began in 1887, but has been most effective during the past dozen years.

If we find that under Federal regulation the percentage of railway stocks yielding dividends, the amount of dividends declared, the average rate on dividend-yielding stocks and the ratio of dividends declared to all stock have ALL increased by an almost unbroken advance, then surely it will not be truthful to charge Uncle Sam with having "starved the railroads," will it?

That is precisely what we DO find.

During the twelve-year period prior to 1900 only 36 per cent. of the outstanding railway stocks received any dividends. During the twelve-year period just ended, 65 per cent. received dividends, a gain in number of 30 per cent.

During the earlier period the average rate on the dividend-yielding stocks was 5.4 per cent.; during the later period it was 7.78 per cent., a gain of 44 per cent.

Instead, therefore, of starving the railroads, or threatening their credit, these figures prove conclusively that the Interstate Commerce Commission has been liberal with them. They have been starved by the greed of their own private manipulators. Their credit has suffered as the direct result of their own crimes.

The new law which instructs the commission to let them collect from the people enough toll to pay a total of 6 per cent. return on the whole value of their property in use, whether that property was wisely designed in the first place or subsequently operated with prudence or not, is not a reflection on past regulation, but rather is proof how easily a propagandized public can be taken in.

It is not in any sense a settlement of the railroad problem. It is, instead, an unsettlement, for action so founded obviously cannot endure.

More Truth Than Poetry

The Only Difference Is Their Clothes

SHE never had her breakfast while lingering in bed,
No valet with side whiskers prepared his morning bath;
She wasn't any heiress, her hands were big and red;
His specialty was daubing wet plaster over lath.

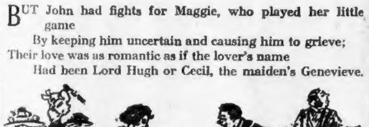
HER name was only Maggie, and his was merely John,
And he was twenty-seven and she was twenty-three;
Her laughing lips were crimson, but Nature had put on
The pretty blend of colors that he was glad to see.

HE took her to the movies, and there he held her hand,
And when the hero rescued the maiden in distress
She nudged him with her elbow and whispered, "Ain't it grand!"
And he, with glad conviction, replied, "You said it—yes!"

NO novelist will ever describe their small affair,
No uproar would have followed if they had run away.
They found it pleasant sitting upon one kitchen chair;
He whipped a plumber's helper because of her one day.

SUCH things are much too common to claim a thought or glance;
Who cares how John wins Maggie or Mary's wooed by Joe?
Our novels, plays and movies must deal with high romance;
We ask for lords and ladies, and nothing else will go.

BUT John had fights for Maggie, who played her little game
By keeping him uncertain and causing him to grieve;
Their love was as romantic as if the lover's name
Had been Lord Hugh or Cecil, the maiden's Genevieve.



THERE MUST BE SOMETHING IN IT.

Shoplifters are said to have a preference for silk stockings. Moralists may be able to find a connection between this evil and the prevailing scantiness of skirts.

SOUNDS ARE CLEARER IN THE WINTER

By Garrett P. Serviss

"I have noticed that there is a great increase of loudness and clearness of outdoor sounds in the Winter time, and I have been told that the reason is because the cold air transmits sound better than warm air. If that is so, why?—A. C. L."

COLD air is denser than warm air, and the loudness of sound increases with the density of the medium through which its waves are conveyed. Professor John Tyndall, the prince of popularizers of science, used to illustrate the effect of changes of air density upon sound by putting a clock bell inside the receiver of an air pump.

When the air was nearly all drawn out the sound of the bell could not be heard; when a little air was let in the sound became feebly audible, and as more and more air was admitted the bell was heard more clearly, until at last, when the air pressure inside equalled that outside the receiver, the bell was heard ringing all over the lecture room.

In midwinter the average actual atmospheric pressure (density) is greater than in the warm months.

The cause of the greater density in cold weather is, of course, the contraction in volume of the air as its temperature falls. On the other hand, it has been proved that the velocity of sound is not augmented by increase of density, but rather, other things remaining equal, is diminished. But velocity must not be confused with loudness.

Sounds of all degrees of loudness are conveyed with the same velocity under the same conditions. And, in fact, the colder the air the less the velocity of the sound that passes through it. At the freezing point the mean velocity of sound is 1,090 feet per second, while at ordinary Summer temperature it is about 1,140 feet.

STRIVE FOR BRIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

IT is all very well to take stock of yourself occasionally and then to have a good mental house-cleaning and throw out all the rubbish; but Spring and Fall are quite often enough for this.

To hold a perpetual carnival of self-analysis only leads to morbidness, despondency and inefficiency. How can any one be good and glad and a joy to his friends if he regards himself as a "worm of the dust" and a "miserable sinner?"

Here is a poor little girl who has become so afraid of her own shadow that she has made a perfect bugaboo of it and attributes to it all sorts of qualities that it doesn't possess.

Her Complaint

She says: "I am twenty-three years old and go to business every day. I am so lonely and miserable that I am obliged to give parties now and then, inviting boys and girls that I don't care a rap about, and who, if they can hurt me, will do so. Perhaps they will see me the next day after and snub me. Of course, a party conducted in such a manner is never a success, and I might as well never give anything at all.

"I am not speaking to lots of my so-called friends, but that doesn't seem to help matters. I am thinking of joining a church in our neighborhood, but I am sure that it will be only a matter of a few days or a few weeks before they will all be against me."

Certainly they will all be "against you" since you have already decided in your own mind that this will be the case.

They will resent the doubt and suspicion which will creep into your manner, since it is in your thoughts, and they will sheer off from you as quickly as possible.

Wrong Weapons

You are using the wrong weapons. If you strike, you will be struck. If you sulk, you will see sulky faces all about you. If you show your raw spots to the world, flies and mosquitoes will cover them.

On the other hand, to win friendship you must show friendliness. If some one hurts you, never give him the satisfaction of seeing it; laugh and forget it. It was probably unintentional, anyway.

Instead of insisting that you are sensitive, insist constantly that you are not. Don't scorn your companions; they have many lovable and delightful traits if you will only take the trouble to find them out.

The Sleeping Palm

A specimen of the rare "sleeping" palm has been found in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. It is considered to be the only one in North America. The tree, which was brought to America by a young Australian botanist, William Robinson, gives out a peculiar aromatic odor. Its upper branches are loaded with a beautiful rainbow-hued flower, giving forth a heavy perfume. Around the base of the tree are the dead bodies of small animals and birds. The curator who discovered the rare palm felt drowsiness stealing over him, and his son complained of the same feeling. It was found that the tree, which had originally been brought from one of the South Sea Islands, belonged to the species Coccineae somnambulae, or sleeping palm, which blooms only once in fifty years, and the flowers were formerly used as a drug by the islanders.

A Locust Plague

Costa Rica, in Central America, recently suffered from a locust plague of such dimensions—the first since 1878—that the resources of the government were called forth to combat it. The population was for a time thrown into a panic and even women and children turned out to fight the insects. Although blasts of sand from cannon, trains of gunpowder, asphyxiating gases and rockets were all used with more or less success, it was thought by the government officials that had it not been for the appearance of disease among the swarms the coco-bacilli would have undoubtedly proved the most efficient means of getting rid of the pest. This disease killed the locusts by millions. It consisted in the development of a worm in the stomach of the insect, which gradually increased in size until the insect was unable to fly and fell dead to the ground.

PROTESTS AGAINST PARTITION OF ARMENIA AROUSE WASHINGTON

Washington, March 4.—The United States is likely to protest the partitioning of Armenia as planned by the allied premiers.

Protests against the proposed partition are flowing into the State Department. They are coming from all sections of the country. Their character will not permit of their being ignored.

It was stated at the State Department that they were receiving most serious consideration. There were intimations that the protests might lead to the formation of a definite policy by the United States, although State Department officials are in a quandary as to what can be done.

The allies propose to divide Armenia into four unequal parts. Its Mediterranean littoral; its richest portion, has been assigned to France; its central provinces have been annexed to a proposed Kurdish state under British protection; its northwestern portions have been left under Turkish sovereignty, and what remains of it is to be made into an Armenian republic.

The protests demand that the Turkish rule be brought to an end in Armenia, and that Armenia from Ararat to the Silician coast be given an unlimited opportunity for autonomous development.

The allies expressed willingness to have the United States take a mandate over Armenia, but the United States was not willing to accept that responsibility. General James H. Harbord, who was detailed by President Wilson to make a study of the economic, military and political conditions in Armenia, as well as the humanitarian needs of the people, reported that it would take a force of 50,000 men effectively to protect the Armenians from ravages by the Turks and Kurds.

For years the Turks and Kurds periodically have assailed the helpless Armenians and massacred them by thousands. The Armenians are incapable of defending themselves against these assaults.

BOSTON PROTESTS RECEIVED.

President Wilson has received a telegram from the Armenian National Union of Boston asking that he take the necessary steps "for the redemption of Armenia."

In view of the attitude of the Senate towards the treaty and its hostility to the United States taking any mandates in Europe, the likelihood seems to be that the President will refer the whole subject to Congress.

The Senate was asked in a resolution introduced by Senator King of Utah, to give notice to the Powers of Europe that Armenia should be given complete independence.

The resolution recites the history of massacres and brutality under the Turkish domination and declares that the United States should exert its influence to set Armenia free. It declares there can be no peace in Europe until the Turks are driven out.

Senator King said he believed the time had come for decisive action by the United States to help Armenia in her difficulties. He expressed the opinion that passage of the resolution by the Senate would influence the ruling powers in the Supreme Council to give Armenia the assistance needed.

Senator King's resolution caused general debate.

The report of Major-General Harbord was referred to.

Senator Wadsworth reminded the Senate that the President had failed even to acknowledge the Senate's request for a copy of the report.

"That is habitual," interjected Senator Lodge. "literally hundreds of requests for information from the White House have been disregarded altogether. Never before I believe in the history of our government has even acknowledgement of Senate resolutions been refused."

Senator King's resolution was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

WILSON'S COAL BOARD SPLITS

Fails to Reach Decision in Wage Dispute Between Miners and Operators

By International News Service.

Washington, March 4.—After more than two months of continuous sessions, President Wilson's coal commission has failed to reach a decision in the wage controversy between the bituminous coal operators and miners. Unless extreme pressure is brought to bear by the President for unanimity, at least two and possibly three separate reports will be sent to the White House.

Commissioner John P. White has advocated an increase of about 40 per cent. for the miners. He is preparing a separate report to the President. Chairman Robinson and Commissioner Peale also have failed to agree on fundamental points in the controversy.

Wage increases to the miners of approximately 29.6 per cent. are understood to be favored by Chairman Robinson and Mr. Peale.

CHAMBER SUIT MAY GO HIGHER

Controversy Over New Building Expected to Reach U. S. Supreme Court

The question of whether or not the Chamber of Commerce will erect a building in Boston may ultimately reach the Supreme Court of the United States. Attorney Harvey Pratt, appearing for some of the objectors, made that announcement today.

Judge George Bingham of the District Court today dismissed the bill in equity brought by Marshall H. Fuller of Hartford, Ct. He sought to enjoin the directors of the Chamber from purchasing a tract of land in the downtown section for the purpose of erecting the building.

It was maintained that the Federal Court directs the plaintiffs to have holdings to the extent of $3,000, whereas Fuller is said to have a certificate of only $200 value.

'Wet' Lawmakers Renew Attacks in New York

Albany, March 4.—"Wet" legislators today began another assault on the enforcement of the national prohibition law. Senator James J. Walker, Democratic leader of the Senate, introduced a bill which would permit the sale under State law of beer with alcoholic content of not more than 2.75 per cent. by weight.

The bill is identical in all other respects to the "Three per cent. beer bill" introduced last year by Senator J. Henry Walters, Republican Senate leader. It would bar the sale of 2.75 per cent. beer in saloons, but permit its sale by wholesalers to individuals for home consumption in quantities of not more than five wine gallons.

NOTES.

Ocean forecast: Steamships leaving Boston and New York today and Friday for Europe will have southwest to south winds, slowly increasing, to the Grand Banks, with rain by Friday.

The Shipping Board steamship Plainfield, reported to be leaking and in trouble several days ago, was reported by wireless today as arriving at Jacksonville, Fla., with twenty-seven inches of water in Nos. 1 and 2 holds. Her steering gear had been giving trouble, but repairs had been effected by the ship's engineers, and Lloyd's surveyor at Jacksonville has granted her a certificate to proceed to Boston. She has a cargo of sugar loaded at Preston, Cuba, for the Revere Sugar Refining Company.

Fishing vessels arriving today report good fishing on the banks east and southeast of Boston. The trawler Ocean arrived today with 280,000 pounds of cod and haddock, bagged in three days on George's. Sales from the vessels at the pier today were as follows: Haddock, 5 to 8½ cents; large cod, 8 to 10 cents; market cod, 6 to 7 cents, pollock, 10 cents; large hake, 12 cents; medium hake, 8 cents; soles, 12¼ cents; dabs, 3½ cents; halibut, 15 to 23 cents a pound.

The British steamship Newby Hall arrived from Alexandria today with 16,000 bales of Egyptian cotton, valued at $11,250,000. According to Boston cotton men, the value of the cargo has depreciated considerably since it was loaded on the ship, owing to a drop in the American market on all grades of cotton. Owing to the congested condition on the piers the Newby Hall will be unable to discharge her cargo for some time.

The Shipping Board steamship Lake Worth, which took a cargo of Egyptian cotton to New Bedford early in the week, returned to this port today to load a similar cargo for New Bedford.

GREEN SLEPT IN HER SUITE

Mrs. Nelson Says He Also Registered Her as His Wife in New York Hotel

teered to secure more cheerful rooms for her after she had complained of those she had at the Prince George. On January 4, she said, Green met her and gave her the key to rooms in the Stratford. With Nancy she went to these rooms, and Green came up that night.

GREEN REFUSED TO LEAVE.

Mrs. Nelson remonstrated with him, she said, but he refused to leave, although she explained that it was a grave indiscretion. The following night, Sunday, Green also slept on the couch, the witness said.

The next day she learned how he had registered her, and left the hotel. Despite her indignation she admitted that she took lunch with Green on January 7.

Mrs. Nelson also described a "row" with her husband on December 26 at the Prince George. This followed the incident at the Grammartin Inn, where Green promised Nelson he would neither see nor communicate with Mrs. Nelson again.

The following day, Mrs. Nelson admitted, her husband went to Green's office and found her there with Nancy. Later they met at the Prince George and engaged in a bitter altercation.

The witness also testified that since Nelson had filed his suit she had questioned a number of men who were fellow-cadets with her husband on the U. S. S. Mexico. She said that she talked with them regarding incidents alleged to have occurred in Havana in which Nelson figured prominently.

MRS. BUNTING TESTIFIES.

Mrs. Alice Nelson Bunting of Beacon street, sister of Ernest E. Nelson, testified that his wife was a poor housekeeper, whose daughter and home were both untidy.

The witness, who is the widow of Captain William Bunting, who died in the service in September, 1918, said the child Nancy was forced to sleep in a moldy bed, that her clothing lacked buttons and her scalp was frequently far from clean.

Mrs. Bunting said she knew the couple would not be happy when they married, as Mrs. Nelson did not bear a good reputation in Malden, where they lived.

Mrs. Bunting also related an incident which she said occurred at the Ocean House, Swampscott, where Mrs. Nelson talked with her in the Summer of 1917. On this occasion, she said, Mrs. Nelson asked if Mrs. Bunting knew "Jim" Green, to which she replied that she did not. "I wondered if you would like him," Mrs. Bunting quoted her sister-in-law as saying. "Many people think that he is so good looking."

A short time later, the witness said, a man entered the hotel and was recognized by Mrs. Nelson as Green. Mrs. Bunting said she told Mrs. Nelson she considered him well groomed but ordinary looking. The witness admitted she wished to help her brother, denied that he was a "spoiled child," but admitted he was disciplined as she was.

Miss Lillian M. Foster of No. 15 Norwood street, Winchester, a dressmaker, testified that in June, 1918, Mrs. Nelson visited her in company with Green. He sat on the doorstep while Mrs. Nelson was getting a fitting, she testified.

Alfred R. Evans of Ridgwood street, Malden, a night watchman, testified to seeing a strange man leaving the Nelson apartment in that city at 11:50 one night. On cross-examination, he denied asking Mrs. Nelson for money to keep quiet.

TELLS OF BEATING IN CELL

Victim of Alleged Assault in Charlestown Station Not Called to Policeman's Trial

James E. Murphy, victim of an al-eged assault while held prisoner in cell in the Charlestown police sta-ion, today conferred with an attor-ey regarding future action against he policeman.

The finding of the trial board in the ase of Patrolman John J. O'Connor as not been announced.

In some circles there is indignation ver the failure of Captain Michael Goff, captain of the Charlestown tation, to summon Murphy as a wit-ess before the trial board.

Murphy, who was employed as a arine fireman, yesterday was forced o relinquish his work owing to in-uries to his back, sustained, he laims, when kicked by his assailant.

URPHY'S STATEMENT.

He told his story to an American eporter today.

"I was arrested on Monday after-oon, February 23," said Murphy, "and placed in a cell in the Charles-own Police Station. Several hours ater O'Connor passed the cell and pit at me. Then he proceeded to therwise humiliate me.

"A short time later another offi-er, Patrolman Cameron, opened the loor of the cell, stating that I had een making a noise with a tin dip-er by rattling it on the bars.

"As Cameron opened the cell door, O'Connor rushed in and punched me n the face. I fell on the bunk and overed my head with my hands and rms. O'Connor, who weighs about 00 pounds, continued punching me bout the face and head and finally icked me in the back. Cameron hen pulled O'Connor from the cell.

"A short time later I asked for a match. O'Connor came along and placed one on the cross bars of the ell. As I reached for it, O'Connor swung his club as if to crush my ingers. Then he drew his revolver and pointed it through the cell door t me.

ORCED TO STRIP.

"Before I went to court that morn-ng Captain Goff made me strip in his office while he examined me in the presence of others. He ques-ioned me concerning the happenings n the cell, and I told him the story ust as I have related it now. I was urprised to learn that O'Connor had een tried without my appearing be-ore the trial board as a witness."

Among old police officials surprise s expressed over the failure to call Murphy. The general order issued by the late Stephen O'Meara in connec-ion with the case of a policeman as-aulting a prisoner at the patrol box was arraigned. These officers assert that a man held in the station house s entitled to more protection and they assert that Commissioner Curtis should reopen the case and call Murphy as a witness.

Since the alleged assault Cameron, a policeman who did not strike, has been transferred from Charlestown to the Back Bay.

ENVOY IS CALLED 'COMMON FLY'

Swiss Minister and American Quarrel Over "Insult" to Family Portraits

By International News Service.

Washington, March 4.—High diplomatic and social circles in Washington, which for days have been buzzing over an acrimonious controversy between two of their members, learned today that all the facts have been placed in possession of the State Department.

The parties to the controversy are Hans Sulzer, Swiss minister to the United States, and Judge W. B. Lamar of the Lamar family of Georgia.

At the Swiss Legation today it was said that for the protection of Mr. Sulzer all the facts have been laid before the department. Mr. Sulzer has sailed for home.

No points of international law are involved, but from the diplomatic point of view it is no light matter when invidious comparisons are made between a foreign diplomat and a "common fly" as set forth in some of Lamar's communications to the minister. And it is equally serious, according to Judge Lamar's friends, when a foreign diplomat, or anyone else, insults the family portraits of the Lamars of Georgia.

The controversy arose over Minister Sulzer's rental of Judge Lamar's residence for $9,000 a year. While a tenant he removed some ancestral Lamar portraits and substituted therefor points of interest in Switzerland.

The judge demanded $1,150 damages from the minister. Being a representative of a foreign government, Sulzer was immune from legal action, but offered to pay $565 "to dispose of the annoyance."

"It's all very silly, but most annoying to the Swiss legation," said one of Sulzer's representatives today. "Mr. Sulzer occupied the Lamar residence for a year at $9,000. But Judge Lamar wanted $12,000, which Mr. Sulzer declined to pay. Judge Lamar also claimed damage to some of the furniture.

"Judge Lamar threatened in his letter to tell every one what he thought of Mr. Sulzer and to write him in a book of reminiscences."

The seized property consisted mostly of silks, furs and jewelry.

Literary Lights Have 'Gone Out' at Harvard

The Harvard Magazine, which came into existence a year ago to make the university a better literary world, has found its shroud.

Nine of the editors of the Magazine deserting their posts have left the tenth and only member of the board to pen the magazine's elegy. And sparkling with wit, P. D. Vose has sounded the knell of the publication, explaining that his retiring editors may be better fitted to hold jobs on "The Chicken Fancier" than on a standard literary Harvard publication.

The editors who resigned are Alan Burroughs, Robert H. Chambers, William F. Davison, Warren J. Hoose, Mark A. Kister, Herman J. Koch, Jr., John J. Ryan and James F. Smith.

Burroughs, a leading light in the magazine, says that the college men are accustomed to take themselves too seriously and that the present number, and the discontinuance of the magazine, are a protest against this assumption of high-mindedness.

"WE WERE FOOLS."

The magazine carries an editorial which says:

"We were fools ever to have started a literary magazine. We haven't even one literary light who can shine bright enough to lure a Sargent's girl into the Merle. What's worse, most of our writers have the bighead and are trying to sell their stuff to the professional magazines.

"Even our first string poet has gone on the rocks—you know the bird who used to write all those swell love sonnets. He's fallen in love and hasn't turned out a foot of verse in two months.

"But the worst blow came when our critic took a job working half-time in Galvin's garage. That left us without anyone to decide what should go into the Mag. and what shouldn't. Finally the advertising manager, who never has anything to do but get ads., came across with the suggestion that we are now using."

The magazine in quoting what people think of its demise has the following:

Woodrow Wilson—May I not express my sincere regret that the American people are in danger of being deprived of The Harvard Magazine as well as the League of Nations?

President Lowell—I have not had the opportunity of writing for the Harvard Magazine, although I understand that it made some pretentions to literary worth.

Henry Cabot Lodge—I knew it would come to a bad end—it knocked me.

LOVE PIRACY LAID TO GRACE LARUE

Divorced Wife of Hale Hamilton, Movie Star, Says Actress Stole His Love

New York, March 4.—Grace Larue, vaudeville and musical comedy star, was made defendant in a suit for $100,000 for alienation of affections brought by Mrs. Myrtle Tannehill Hamilton, who obtained a divorce from Hale Hamilton, actor, in New York city, N. Y., on January 24, naming Miss Larue as co-respondent.

Mrs. Hamilton, who also is well known on the stage under her maiden name, Myrtle Tannehill, reiterates the charges made in the divorce suit. She says her husband met Miss Larue in 1908 and by "giving him money and following him about the country, weaned him away from her, his lawful wife." She also cites meetings between her husband and Miss Larue in hotels in various cities.

Hamilton made an international reputation as the star in "Get Rich Quick Wallingford."

Miss Larue married Byron Chandler of Boston several years ago when Chandler had earned the sobriquet, "The Millionaire Kid," by his lavish expenditures along the great white way. They separated after a few years and Chandler has been living quietly in Massachusetts for some time.

VOTE TO MOVE BATTLE FLAGS

Legislators Favor "Junking" $7,500 Receptacle for World-War Banners

The $7,500 marble and bronze receptacle for world-war flags in the Grand Staircase Hall at the State House will be junked and the flags, together with the starry banners of the Spanish War, will be placed in the Hall of Flags with the battle-worn standards of the Civil War, despite the protest of the Grand Army.

That is—if the Legislature accepts the report about to be made by a special sub-committee of the legislative Committee on Military Affairs.

The $7,500 receptacle was constructed by authority of the Legislature and placed in the Grand Staircase Hall, opposite the War Nurses Memorial. The Art Commissioners took one look at it and held up their hands in aesthetic horror.

The Grand Army men protested against removal to the Hall of Flags, but the sub-committee has decided that is the place for them. Under the plan, the flags will be placed in four niches in the circular hall and the statue of Major William Francis Bartlett will be transferred to the present site of the $7,500 receptacle.

MARINERS' HOME HAS $2,000 FIRE

Thirty Inmates Flee to Safety Over Fire Escapes and Stairs

Ten sailors, trapped in a fire on the third floor of the three-story brick building known as the Mariners' Home at No. 11 North square, early today, were forced to flee over a fire escape.

Twenty others made their way safely down the stairway. Only quick work on the part of the watchman, who discovered the blaze, saved all thirty from possible suffocation.

The blaze started on the first floor and worked along the walls and ceilings, and was burning on the third floor when Deputy Chief Edward Shallow arrived. He ordered his men into the building, via the fire escape, and the trapped men were escorted to the street in safety.

The damage to the building will exceed $2,000. Considerable damage was done to the furnishings. The Home is run under the auspices of the Boston Port Seaman's Aid Society.

HOLBROOK WAR HERO FREED

Bazaar 'Gaming' Case Against Legion Commander Placed on File

John A. McNeice, commander of William N. Dalton Post, American Legion, of Holbrook, holder of the French Medale Militaire, Croix de Guerre and American D. S. C., appeared before Judge Avery in Quincy Court today on the charge of gmaing.

The complainant was Harry C. Mitchell, who alleged that at a recent bazaar held by the post to raise funds for the erection of a memorial house, McNeice operated a candy wheel.

Mitchell on February 29 complained to Chief of Police Crooker against the operation of the wheel. Crooker, it is said, declined to take action. Mitchell then went to the State police. State Officer Bouillard seized the wheel, with some candy, a dial and five pounds of sugar, and summoned McNeice to court.

As a result the entire town of Holbrook became aroused. Town Counsel and Moderator Louis E. Flye volunteered his service in behalf of McNeice.

When the case was called today a large number of townspeople were present. McNeice pleaded nolo and Judge Avery placed his case on file. The candy wheel was forfeited to the State, while the two boxes of candy and the sugar were ordered returned to McNeice.

WOBURN LINE NOW SHORT OF STREET CARS

Shortage of street cars in Woburn will result in the continuance of the "one-hour" schedule for some time, officials said today. On the old schedule cars were run every fifteen minutes. The division has only six dependable cars, it was stated, and twenty-five or thirty which could be repaired if the parts could be obtained. The cars connecting Boston are run only as far as Winthrop square, instead of Sullivan square, and the Burlington-Billerica-Lowell line is discontinued.

SALARIES OF WOBURN TEACHERS MAY BE CUT

School teachers' salary increases in Woburn will be cut $300 if the report of the finance committee is approved by the City Council at tonight's meeting. The committee pruned the departmental budget by about $6,100. A graded increase was approved last year by the Council, but the committee ruled that the increases were practically bonuses, granted in view of the cost of living, and should be treated on that basis.

GRAIN CHIEF TO GO ON GRILL

Johnson Will Put Probe Motion on Friday at Food Relief Hearing

Washington, March 4.—Julius H. Barnes, president, and other officials of the United States Grain Corporation, will be called before the House Rules Committee for examination on the Spokane Federal Grand Jury's charges against "some officers" of the grain corporation in connection with the pending $50,000,000 European food relief bill.

The plan to have these witnesses appear before the committee was determined by Representative Johnson of South Dakota of the Rules Committee. He said he would offer a motion to that effect at the meeting tomorrow, when the Food Relief Bill will be taken up. Chairman Campbell of the committee said the motion would be entertained.

In view of the gravity of the Grand Jury's charges and the opposition in Congress to the proposed drain on the treasury, it is not expected that the Johnson motion will be opposed.

IMPLIES GRAFT.

This is what the Grand Jury had to say on the matter:

"According to press reports, former Secretary of the Treasury Glass recommended to Congress the appropriation of $150,000,000 to purchase flour and wheat. It is our belief that this wheat is now owned largely by speculators and, in some cases, by interests directly and indirectly connected with some of the officers of the Grain Corporation. Sales to Europe will benefit only the purse of individuals and the consumer will pay the bills."

BARNES MUST EXPLAIN.

Here are some of the specific questions to be asked Barnes and his associates:

How will the proposed appropriation be spent?

Where will the wheat for distribution in Europe be bought?

How will the distribution of these foodstuffs affect the market in this country?

What will be the overhead expense in carrying out the relief?

What securities are expected to be taken in return for the commodities?

What plans have been developed for the distribution abroad?

How long will it take to get the wheat and flour to the people said to be in need? Can it be distributed before June 1, when the government's minimum wheat price guarantee expires and the Grain Corporation ceases to exist?

How has the Grain Corporation made its $50,000,000 profit?

STATE DEPT. ASKS HEARING.

The hearing originally was decided at the request of a delegation of clergymen of New York city. It was learned, however, that the State Department has asked for an opportunity to make renewed representations as to why the legislation should be enacted.

In requesting a hearing, the department informed Chairman Campbell that further reports had been received as to conditions in Austria and Poland. The department will lay these reports before the committee. Chairman Campbell notified the department that its representatives will be heard Friday.

WOULD GRILL PALMER.

Representative Johnson also suggested that Attorney-General Palmer should have an investigation made to establish whether Max H. Houser, second vice-president of the Grain Corporation and regional director of the zone embracing Oregon, Idaho and Washington, has violated his oath.

Barnes' office has stated that all vice-presidents of the Grain Corporation were compelled to take an oath to relinquish all grain connections.

The Spokane Grand Jury charged it was the jury's belief that Houser "is the real party in interest" in a number of mills and grain concerns," and that, by reason of his connection with the United States Grain Corporation, he has been able to manipulate and operate them to immense profit to himself and associates.

Representative Johnson said:

"The Attorney-General, through the local District Attorney, should investigate this charge, and if it is established that Houser has violated his oath action should be taken."

Punish Guilty Grain 'Ring,' Says Gore

Washington, March 4.—Three United States Senators have declared themselves for a vigorous, relentless probe of the alleged wheat "ring" activities of the United States Grain Corporation. They are Senators Gore, Sherman and Capper, all of whom have been aroused to their demand for a Congressional investigation by the report of the Spokane Grand Jury's charges that the government agency was used to manipulate grain prices for the benefit of the speculators.

Their statements follow:

By Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma:

I am in favor of the investigation of everybody involved in the United States Grain Corporation.

If everybody is innocent, it will certify to their innocence and shield them against suspicion. If they are not innocent, their guilt will be established and they will be arraigned before the bar of public opinion.

The Grain Corporation was made an administrative agency to carry out the law and they should have supervised the distribution of wheat. I think the whole manipulation has been managed to the hurt of the farmer. The whole scheme seems to have been to subsidize the middleman to make the machinery move smoothly.

By Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman of Illinois:

I shall cast my vote for Senator Reed's resolution directing the committee of manufacturers to inquire into the reported wheat pool, when the time comes.

It is about time that Congress should know something of the workings of some of these vast machineries of government administrative agencies that it set in motion as war measures. Congress never meant that the Food Administration and the Grain Corporation under it, should pile up dividends.

The scheme of Congress when it created this bureau or appropriated money for it was not that it should be a money-making bureau assuming the burdens of the republic, for the people do that by taxation.

I am glad that this resolution has been introduced, and we shall get somewhere now in finding out the truth.

If these reports are true the dollar a year man could well afford, under these conditions, to contribute his time to the administration of Federal affairs and secrets that would net him or his firm with which he had affiliations great profits or create a great wealth in market manipulations.

By Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas:

It would look from the report of the Federal Grand Jury, sitting at Spokane, Wash., that there were immediate grounds for action by the Department of Justice, and it does seem strange that, when such reports were turned in by such authority, that there would be no further need of the enforcement division further delaying action by starting an investigation of its own. I should think that the information given by the Grand Jury would be sufficient in itself to warrant the Department of Justice to move immediately without doing over again the work accomplished by the Grand Jury proceedings.

If millions of dollars made by this bureau are turned into the treasury or, as has been suggested, given to Europe to feed the war-worn and hungry, then let it be known that the contribution was taken from the pockets of the farmers, which was not the intention of Congress when this bureau was created.

$5,000 BACK PAY FOR HAVERHILL STRIKERS

Haverhill, March 4.—As a result of a unanimous vote by a local arbitration board, 500 woodheel factory employes, who were involved in a strike lasting six weeks in eight factories in this city, will receive back pay dating from January 21, amounting to $5,000. The strike was called because the manufacturers refused advances in wages ranging from 25 to 75 per cent. A compromise was reached on January 31 on a 44 per cent. basis.

W. hall, Armistice Day, or that he was a co-conspirator in a raid on the hall was deemed insufficient by Superior Court Judge Wilson to allow the offering of testimony relating to plans made for the attack on the hall.

RICH WIDOW'S WILL BROKEN

Jury Finds Mrs. Rosa E. Spang Was Unbalanced; Daughter Wins Contest

By International News Service.

New York, March 4.—The $2,000,000 will of Mrs. Rosa E. Spang, late widow of a Pittsburgh steel millionaire, was declared void when a surrogate's court jury returned a verdict early today that Mrs. Spang was of unsound mind when she signed the testament. The jury was out for more than twelve hours.

Mrs. Spang, who died at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel June 22, 1919, had left the bulk of her estate to found a home for abandoned girls. The will was contested by a daughter, Mrs. Mabel Crome Anckers of Copenhagen, Denmark, who had been bequeathed only a nominal sum.

During the long trial, which was marked by testimony as to Mrs. Spang's whims, it was brought out that Mrs. Spang had drawn two wills. In the first she left the bulk of her estate and an annuity of $100,000 to her daughter, but in the second, drawn just before her death, she left nearly all her estate for the creation of a foundation for the home for girls.

Following the announcement of the verdict, former State Senator Edward S. Brackett of Saratoga Springs, moved the general probate of the will, but was overruled. It was revealed that despite her advanced age Mrs. Spang believed she had "a spiritual affinity."

FAMILIES OF WAR'S DEAD SHIELDED FROM GRAFTERS

Washington, March 4.—When the removal of soldier dead from France is under the auspices of the War Department, there is no opportunity for undertaking firms to prey upon the relatives.

This was made plain in a statement issued by Secretary Baker, following a conference with a committee headed by J. S. Poulch of New York. The committee called to Mr. Baker's attention a report that in one instance $45 was charged by an undertaker for removing the remains of a soldier from a New York wharf to the cemetery.

We Guarantee That Our Prices Are Lower

Why shouldn't they be? We are out of the high-rent district. Our operating expenses are unusually low, and our volume of business exceedingly large. But mere talk about low prices alone in not sufficient to satisfy you.

Why should you come over to Cambridge? Our store is convenient to the Central Square Subway Station, 6 minutes from Park Street. We are outside the Boston shopping district. This means that some of you must form a new habit. Is it worth it?

If you want to save money—if you want to make your dollar buy more—it is worth the trip. Not only do we offer you an opportunity to select the furniture you need from six floors of our large building, but we do this:

We guarantee you lower prices than you can get at any store selling furniture in Boston. There are no ifs and ands and hems and haws about this. The exceptions we make are on articles the prices of which are fixed by the manufacturer.

In addition to this we give you credit that is different. You pay a small sum down and the rest weekly or monthly. If you need a year's credit, you get it. If more time is required, that, too, can be arranged.

As one sample of what you will find on our six floors, look at the Chamber Suite illustrated above, 4 pieces, for $295.00. This is not a special sale price. It is our every-day price.

And all this service, mind you, without any extra cost to you. We open accounts from $5.00 to $5000, anywhere in New England, and we pay the freight.

DISCUSS DUTIES OF MUSICIANS

Judge Cabot and Labor Leader Confer on Players' Contracts With Symphony

Judge Frederick P. Cabot, president of the trustees of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, today conferred with Arthur Berenson, legal representative of the union members of the orchestra, seeking information on the purposes of unionization. He was anxious to ascertain the duties and obligations of the musicians to the union.

The question of inconsistencies between the union's by-laws and the individual contracts of the members was discussed. The attorney held to the belief that there was nothing in the contracts that would prevent men joining the union.

Mr. Cabot recently asked Frederick Fradkin, concert master, for information as to his duties with the union and Mr. Fradkin declined to state, requesting that Mr. Cabot make his wishes known in a letter.

Thereupon Mr. Cabot sent a letter to the committee representing the organized musicians, in which he said:

"The trustees are unwilling to believe that any one of you will enter into new relations, while your contract is still in force, which would involve a violation of its terms.

"The trustees appreciate the desire of many members of the orchestra for an increase in their salaries, and realize the reasons prompting it. It is the purpose of the trustees to continue the Boston Symphony Orchestra, to seek and increase of its permanent resources through an endowment and to increase its current income in every available way.

"Such increase will be undertaken chiefly for the purpose of enabling the trustees to secure and retain the services of the very best artists as members of the orchestra, and to provide the trustees with means properly to compensate men of such qualifications."

HITS REFORMERS ON FILM BILL

Woman Lawyer Charges Censor Propaganda Is Deceptive; Scores Measure

That the women of Massachusetts are divided on the question of State censorship of motion pictures, was the declaration today of Mrs. Walter Hartstone, prominent Brookline club woman, who stands in firm opposition to the measure.

Mrs. Hartstone's viewpoint was further emphasized by Miss Emily Haynes, one of the most prominent women attorneys in this State.

BLAMES REFORMERS.

Miss Haynes, in speaking on the question of film censorship today, said that in her opinion the whole matter is the result of an agitation worked up by a certain reform organization, which takes up each year some new line of endeavor. This reform organization, Miss Haynes believes, worked up the propaganda which has resulted in the belief, in the minds of many, that a film censorship is a necessity.

"The women of Massachusetts are divided upon this matter of film censorship by the State," said Mrs. Hartstone, in discussing the bill which is now in the hands of the Legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs and which will soon be reported upon to the House.

"There is no reason for a State censor because every provision has been made to look after the films in this State. To censor the films would be a blow at American freedom and the freedom of speech. Local option, in the question of motion picture censorship, has worked out satisfactorily in Massachusetts.

ONLY FOUR STATE BOARDS.

"It is very significant that only four States in the whole Unitd States have adopted a State censorship of motion pictures, although the question has been brought before the Legislatures of a large number of States. The rest of the States may or may not need legislation to regulate motion pictures. We do not need it here. If the people had only studied this problem there would not have been the number of people in favor of the measure as there now is, although opponents to censorship are growing stronger every minute.

"No few people should be allowed to set a standard for the many. I am strongly against censorship, other than as it now is, and I want to do everything I can to prevent it."

Miss Haynes, taking the viewpoint of the lawyer, declared that there is legislation and laws enough now to handle the evils of the motion picture industry.

"As a lawyer, I believe we have sufficient laws upon our books to prevent the showing of obscene or immoral pictures.

"The State Committee on Motion Pictures, which is behind this bill, claims to have made an extensive survey of motion pictures throughout the State extending from the Spring of 1919 to the Fall, and to have examined a large number of motion pictures.

CHARGES DECEPTION.

"As legislative chairman of the Film Club of Boston, an organization of 250 persons interested in the improvement of motion pictures, I requested the secretary of the State Committee on Motion Pictures to furnish the Film Club with a list of the motion pictures censored by the State committee. This request was refused, although at the time the Film Club was one of the organizations affiliated with the State committee.

"I believe that many people have signed the postal cards sent broadcast by the State Committee on Motion Pictures, under the impression that it is not now necessary to license motion pictures in Massachusetts. The very title of this bill is misleading and liable to deceive people unfamiliar with the law.

"I think it would be well to here incorporate the law as it stands in this State so that the people might know that we have a law which covers this situation.

"The following is the law:

"'Acts and Resolves of Massachusetts, 1910, Chapter 367, Section 23: "An act relative to immoral entertainments." "Whoever, as owner, manager, director, agent or in any capacity prepares, advertises, gives, presents or participates in any lewd obscene, indecent, immoral or impure show or entertainment, or in any show or entertainment suggestive of lewdness, obscenity, indecency, immorality or impurity, or in any show or entertainment manifestly tending to corrupt the morals of youth, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more that one year, or by a fine of not more than $500, or by both such fine and imprisonment.'"

BISHOP STIRRED BY VICE QUERY

Questions at Newport Investigation Lead to Protest by Dr. Perry

Newport, March 4.—Bishop James DeWolf Perry, D. D., of Rhode Island entered a formal protest against the type of questions asked by Lieutenant E. M. Hudson, an interested party, before the naval court of inquiry. The protest led to one of the liveliest moments of the hearing.

The judge advocate insisted that the remarks be stricken from the record on the ground that they came near being contempt of court, and when Attorney Nolan attempted to present his objections Admiral Dunn, three times, ordered the court to be cleared.

When reconvened the court declared that the objections of the judge advocate were not sustained and the remarks would be allowed to remain on record. He informed Bishop Perry that the court was quite able and willing to protect his interests.

Reference was made to conferences with John R. Rathom, and the question was asked whether Rev. Mr. Kent's moral character was discussed at the Detroit conference.

"The subject was discussed and left no doubt in the minds of those who discussed it that Chaplain Kent's moral character was above reproach," said the bishop.

Then the question was again raised in regard to Chaplain Kent's character to which the bishop replied with much emphasis:

"I am unwilling to be caught by that question, sir. It was agreed that there sould be no grounds for such a complaint. Your language has a significance which I refuse to admit."

"Was any question raised regarding Mr. Kent's moral character in your interview with Secretary Daniels?" was the next question. "I repeat that I refuse to be entrapped by anything so obvious as that," came the answer. "I insist on an answer," said Lieutenant Hudson.

"I told Mr. Daniels that Mr. Kent's moral character was good," answered the bishop. "I wish to enter my formal protest against the questions being asked by the interested party as being entirely unworthy of the occasion. The evident and unworthy trap, which became clear to me, was such that I wish to record my protest."

"I move that Bishop Perry's remarks be stricken from the records," shouted the judge advocate.

IRISH QUESTION IS HARVARD FORUM TOPIC

The Irish question will be discussed tonight at the second meeting of the Harvard Forum. H. MacFadden of Cambridge will uphold the Irish point of view and James F. Leys, Jr., of Boston will support the English side. An open discussion will follow.

POLISH LEGION WILL BE BROUGHT HOME BY U. S.

Washington, March 4.—Members of the American-Polish Legion, numbering about 12,000, who went to Poland to aid in assuring the freedom of that country are now at Danzig, and will be brought back to the United States on American transports under a resolution adopted by the House. The resolution had previously been passed by the Senate and will be sent to the President for approval.

Vose Player Piano

This perfect player is the choice of people who really know and appreciate tone value. It appeals to those who entertain a fine regard for quality.

The charm of the Vose Player lies in its tone, the beautiful Vose tone, with an expression that explains its remarkable national success.

Long before making a player the House of Vose was nationally famous for its Vose piano, which is the basis of its player.

A comparison—the played roll tells a stronger and more convincing story of its superiority than the written word—an upright piano and player in one instrument. Terms.

FROHMAN AMUSEMENT CORPORATION NEW YORK

The salaried woman usually goes to picture shows—regularly.

She is a toiler. And her toil has to be balanced by a certain amount of amusement and recreation.

These she finds in the motion picture—and at a price which she can afford to pay. Science, Travel, News, Story, classic Drama and diverting Comedy—these she finds in the motion picture, together with the romance which is dear to her woman's heart and the inspiration demanded by her woman's soul.

So the salaried woman is what she laughingly calls herself—a movie fan!

But never until now has the salaried woman had any solid sort of chance to get in on the profit side of the motion picture business.

The FROHMAN AMUSEMENT CORPORATION now gives her this opportunity, at the same time making it safe and easy.

The salaried woman is well represented in the ownership of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the United States Steel Corporation, and other great industrial companies. She is a mighty factor in modern business. Will she leave the vast and growing motion picture business out of her calculations for personal profit? She will NOT!

The Frohman Amusement Corporation claims the honor of being the first among the standard motion picture companies to systematically and publicly recognize the right of the Patron to have a share of the Profits of the Screen.

All this is fully explained in a certain BOOK called "THE FROHMAN PLAN," which is regarded by business women generally as one of the most interesting books that has ever fallen into their hands.

We would like to send, without any cost or obligation, to the alert woman (or man) now reading this newspaper, one copy of this BOOK. And if your name and address are sent PROMPTLY ENOUGH you will also receive, with our compliments, a list of the Frohman productions and 24 portraits of Frohman Stars.

This opportunity is limited. It won't last. Therefore, as soon as you have finished reading this column, send your NAME and ADDRESS, plainly written on a postcard or letter-sheet, to

This Tells You How to Get Benefit of the Best Senna

Finest Grade of Egyptian Senna Leaves used in compounding Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

PROMINENT importers and wholesale dealers in crude drugs and medicinal herbs gathered from all parts of the world do not hesitate to say that the market for the better grades of medicinal herbs, roots, oils, etc., is practically confined to the leading manufacturers of the so-called package medicines, who buy only the very best, and that the manufacturers of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are the largest users of the best grade of Egyptian senna leaves in the world.

The potency of a tea brewed from senna leaves to relieve constipation has long been recognized, not only by the medical profession, but by the public generally; in fact, senna has been known and used in medicine for more than five centuries. The cheaper grades of senna, such as are usually sold at retail, have, however, a tendency to gripe and cramp which makes their use unpopular with most people.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the finest Egyptian senna is combined with pepsin and other valuable agents, essential oils and pure cane sugar syrup to make an exceptionally valuable tonic-laxative for the relief of constipation and resulting disturbances of the stomach and bowels. The complete formula is plainly printed in English, French, and Spanish on every package. Thousands who formerly bought an inferior grade of senna leaves now use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin instead. It is sold in drug stores everywhere.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, 1 small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp; is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look 10 to 20 years younger."

To Make Your Hair Look Naturally Curly

If milady of the straight, lank hair will adopt the simple silmerine method, she will have as pretty wavy tresses as she could wish to own. The curliness will look so natural, and the hair so beautifully soft and glossy, quite different from the obviously artificial curls and the parched, dead appearance of the hair produced by the heated iron.

Liquid silmerine can of course be obtained at any drug store and a few ounces will keep the hair in curl for many weeks. Being perfectly harmless and neither sticky nor greasy, no one need have the least hesitancy in using it. It is best applied with a clean toothbrush, drawing this through the hair from crown to tip just before doing it up. The effect will be all that any one could desire.—Advertisement.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX On Life Beyond the Grave

Letters of Poetess Reveal "Communications From the Spirit World"

(The following hitherto unpublished letters from America's greatest poetess to her favorite brother, Marcus P. Wheeler, Windsor, Wis., a Civil War veteran, constitute a remarkable human document. At one and the same time they set forth what she believed her certain knowledge of the life hereafter, based upon communications from her husband, Robert M. Wilcox, who died in 1916, and also very interesting sidelights on the daily life and views of this writer whose name is known to everyone who reads. These letters will be printed in daily instalments.)

Tours, May 19, 1918.

Dear Marcus:

Here we are in another old French town of great interest. I have had a strenuous week getting out of Dijon and to this place. Yet regular mountains of difficulties gave way and became comparatively smooth roads. Three dreadful railroad changes I dreaded vanished.

I met an American general who gave me passes on a military train which came through without change. And never cost me a cent! Five hours in place of fifteen! There are no porters on trains now, and I dreaded getting our traps off the train. A major who was on the train heard I was there, and came and introduced himself. He is constructing all the new roads in France. He took the baggage bother off my hands and mind, and got a carriage for me, and sent me off to this hotel free of worry.

A French lady in Dijon who lent me the books of Leon Denis (which caused me to come here) came the day after I did and took me to lunch with the dear old man today. I obtained from him the right to translate his wonderful book, "Destiny." I shall begin it on the 21st, my holy day. Will write a page or two every day until I have it done.

May 21, Evening.

Well, I woke this morning with a wonderful feeling of peace and power. Felt as if I were being carried around in strong arms. I got busy early and translated three pages of "Destiny." At noon my friend Miss Chaise from Dijon came and took me to Mr. Denis' again. We had coffee there, and then an interesting woman who does writing under control came, and she soon began to write messages for everybody. She does not know what is being written by her hand until it stops.

MESSAGES NOT IMPRESSIVE.

My messages were not impressive; they did not impress me, at all events. They were all in French. One for Mrs. Randall seemed rather curious because no one here knows her history.

Mr. Denis received some that he found of much interest. Through Miss Chaise, however, some very uplifting messages came to me. The little group was composed of very intellectual and cultivated people, and our conversation was al sustaining and stimulating. I came back to the hotel better than I went from it. So the very difficult anniversary has been a day of peace and growth. I enclose a letter from Mr. Dawson, the secretary of our Poetry Society in New York. Thought you might like to see it. Am hearing many pleasant things about my Memoirs. Hope to get the June number this week and see how that reads.

A year ago tonight I started East with Harry Wilcox, dreading the Summer ahead of me, which proved worse than my worst fears. Thank heaven such an ordeal does not lie ahead of me now. It seems like a horrible nightmare as I look back. But I can see the purpose in it all. I am never to lean on any human being for happiness, but to find it in Divine Power and in my own divinity.

PLEASED WITH WILL.

Robert had to get out of his body and into clearer altitudes before he realized how unjust he had been in leaving the beautiful Bungalow home. So now it is willed to a beautiful young cousin only 13; a girl Robert was planning to help educate had he lived. She will be about 23 when I no longer need the Bungalow. Robert is pleased with the new will. It was surely evolved out of bitter anguish and what seemed unnecessary suffering for me, but it is all right.

May 23d: Your letter of April 28 is here. You can always use any part of my letters you like for publication. Your own good taste will decide what it will be wise to give out.

Today has been full of unusual interest. A Y. M. C. A. secretary came in a motor car this morning (he came in a Hunka Tin) and took us to the American hospital here. We got there just as a French aviator, who had come back from the front and many great flights safely, was being brought in for examination by X-ray after a fall here in the practice grounds. He was terribly injured and has just one chance in a hundred to get well. He was moaning in awful pain and we had a glimpse of his handsome boyish face. His nurse showed us the Cross of Honor he had received the day before.

TALKED WITH AVIATOR.

Then we talked in one ward with an American aviator who believes he is recovering from a frightful injury to his spine from a fall. He is such a handsome fine type of man, about thirty. Was most enthusiastic about meeting me and said he read every line of mine he could find. We are going to see them all again next week.

This afternoon the same man came in a big car and took us and three French ladies to three old chateaux, the Chateau of Langiais, the Chateau of Chenonceaux and the Chateau of Blois. All are very old; one built in the tenth century, with a wonderful history, and now only a ruin. One now owned by the (chocolate) Menlers and by them given to the use of wounded French soldiers; that is, the grounds.

The chateau is a museum of old tapestries and paintings. Francis First and Henry Second and the mutual mistress, Diane Poiters, lived there, and in the other we saw the room where Catherine de Medici had her altar for prayers, and just next it her secret cabinet for her poisons, where she entertained her rivals and enemies at their last dinner. The old original portraits of all of these personages were there. Robert and I always planned a Summer of touring around among these chateaux. There are many more and I expect to see some of them.

Saturday—My Corona is balking so I must finish with my pen.

ADORES GARGOYLES.

I am glad to know Mrs. Ritter had the portraits copied. She did not tell me she had.

The few little errors in my memoirs don't count. Johnstown or the Centre—it doesn't matter; the main fact is that I was born in Wisconsin, and had the environment which gave me the impulse to get up and out.

I didn't intend to "look down" on those Gargoyles. I adore them. I have no doubt they did keep away what they are supposed to (they would keep away most anything.)

In my tour of the world I went into every temple of the different countries and worshipped according to their methods. In that way I got all the vibrations of faith and reverence to add to my own.

No, I do not expect you to feel belief or interest in my messages in this incarnation. You have not time to grow into this consciousness now. But I have to mention them, as they are the foundation of my whole resurrected life. I would be the same dead-alive thing—just killing by inches and waiting for death—as I was a year ago, but for this wonderful experience. Since I left America every man and woman I have met, of any nationality, has been awake and keenly interested in this subject save one—a mediocre man from the middle-west, who is not awake yet.

I am to give an address here this week before the Y. M. C. A.—or rather before the soldiers in the "Y" hut. It does seem queer that I am doing this work.

ELLA.

CAPE COD CANAL IS REOPENED

20,000 Tons of Coal Freed on Orders of Attorney Whipple

The Cape Cod Canal was reopened today, and a waiting fleet of coal barges, carrying 20,000 tons of soft coal to relieve the fuel stringency, passed through the waterway en route to this city.

Attorney Sherman L. Whipple, counsel for the Boston, Cape Cod and New York Canal Company, acting at the request of officials of the concern, ordered Captain Harold F. Colbeth, canal superintendent, to operate the waterway.

Whipple stated it was his opinion that tolls collected would pay the cost of operation, but, if it did not, then the expense should be borne by the government. Just how long the canal will be kept open is a matter of speculation and depends upon the extent of the fuel emergency.

The answer to Governor Coolidge's telegrams to the War Department regarding the operation of the canal was received today in the form of a telegram from Secretary Baker. It read:

"Reference to your telegrams of March 2 and 3. As I understand, there is no litigation pending between the War Department and the owners of the Cape Cod Canal. The War Department has not been operating nor has it been in possession of the Cape Cod Canal. My connection with it has apparently been misunderstood. If your telegrams relate to a stipulation or understanding affecting condemnation proceedings under act of August 8, 1917, the subject is outside the scope of my official duties and powers. In that event allow me to suggest the propriety of communicating with the Attorney-General of the United States."

CUTS DENIKIN'S ARMY IN TWO

Soviet Force Opens Way for Attacks Against Persia and Georgia

London, March 4.—The Soviet army in Southern Russia has crossed the Rostov-Georgievsk railway, cutting in two the remnants of General Denikin's anti-Bolshevik army and opening the way for attacks against Persia and the new States of Georgia and Azerbaijan, in Trans-Caucasia, according to reports from Moscow today.

The Soviet describes the latest victory over the Denikin forces as a "knockout blow."

The remains of Denikin's troops are being forced towards the Caucasus Mountains and the Soviet claims that its army will inevitably control the Caspian Sea.

POLICE CHIEF WITNESS AGAINST CHESSMAN

Brockton, March 4.—The trial of Walter N. Chessman, charged with manslaughter on three counts, was resumed in the Superior Court here today with George C. Chase, chief of police, as first witness for the prosecution. Chase testified that on the night of June 15, 1919, immediately after the arrest of Chessman, after he had struck with his machine and caused the death of two women and a man, Chessman said he had just returned from Nantasket, where he had been drinking.

MUST PAY $6,500 FOR DEATH AND INJURY

Salem, March 4.—Frank A. Crowe, administrator of the estate of Margaret C. Crowe of Beverly, was awarded $5,000 by Judge Keating in Superior Court today from Henry M. Bixby of Salem. Mary Crowe was awarded $1,500. Bixby owned the house occupied by the Crowe family. In July, 1918, the front piazza collapsed, causing the death of Margaret Crowe and serious injuries to Mary.

6 in Court for Driving on Track

Six men appeared in Dorchester Court today, before Judge Churchill, charged with driving on the reservation for street cars on Columbia road. Three paid fines of $5; three other cases were filed. One man paid a fine of $10 for not having number plates on his automobile.

Give Stomach What It Needs

The Alkaline Effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Usually Corrects the Stomach Faults that Provoke Attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

To sit back after a good meal and know there is not going to be sour risings, gas, drowsiness and discomfort is the logical result of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they can trace each attack of indigestion to the something they ate and can still "taste." And it surprises them, invariably, to note how quickly relief comes after using one or two of these tablets. Whether it is highly seasoned food, rich pastry, the heavy, hearty foods or some one particular offender the relief comes just the same. Those who are susceptible to attacks of indigestion or dyspepsia should try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as they supply the stomach with an alkaline effect just as it does naturally when it is working in a perfectly healthy condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so widely known and used that you can get them in any drug store in the United States and Canada at 50 cents a box.

Just Yellow Mustard for Backache, Lumbago

Grandmother's old mussy mustard plaster or poultice generally brought relief all right even in the severest cases, but it burned and blistered like blazes.

"Heat eases pain," reduces the inflammation and scatters congestion, but you'll find that while Begy's Mustarine, made of true yellow mustard and other pain destroyers, is just as hot as the old-fashioned plaster, it is much quicker, cleaner and more effective and cannot blister.

It's a great external remedy—just rub it on wherever aches, pains, inflammation, congestion or swelling exists and in a very few minutes the relief you have longed for surely arrives, because "Heat eases pain." 30 and 60 cents at druggists or by mail. S. C. Wells & Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

TWO SOUTH BOSTON WARDS GIVE $15,000 FOR IRISH BONDS

General Logan's Family Pledges $375; Woman's $600 Is First Subscription From Wellesley

Approximately $15,000 has been subscribed in Wards 9 and 10 of South Boston in the Irish bond certificate drive, according to the report given out today at the quarters of the American Commission on Irish Independence at the American House, Hanover street.

Richard Dwyer, national vice-president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, has charge of the drive in Ward 10, and reports that a weighty impetus will be given to the drive at meetings of Irish organizations in that section Sunday afternoon and evening.

Headquarters for the drive have been opened in the rooms of the South Boston Gaelic School, No. 376 Broadway, under the direction of Captain John Joseph Murphy, chairman of the Ward Nine committee.

The family of General Lawrence J. Logan in South Boston added $375 to the drive. General Logan and his eldest son, Colonel Edward L. Logan, contributed $100 each; Theodore M. Logan and Francis V. Logan each bought $50 bonds; Mrs. Katherine M. Logan and her two daughters, Martha T. and Elizabeth C., each gave $25.

Charles J. O'Connell, in Precinct 2 of Ward 9, visited the clerks and freight handlers of the New Haven road and reported a total sale of bonds amounting to $160. John J. Ridge, Precinct 8 captain in Ward 9, turned in $1,049.25 after a two-day canvass, and James J. Hagerty of Precinct 5 of the same ward has turned in over $2,000.

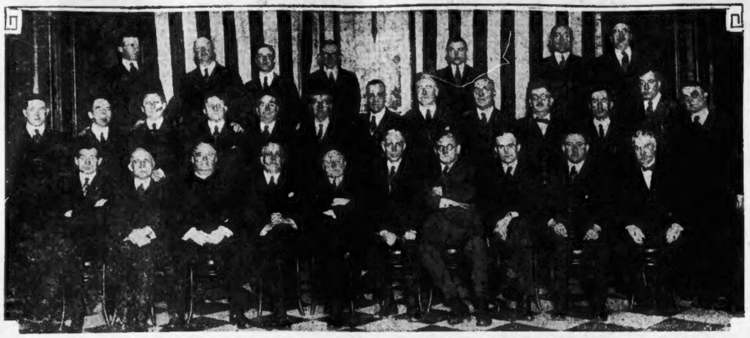
George Cassill of South Boston is acting as general utility man in Wards 9 and 10 and has devised a "pledge card" for use in the district so that no family which might not at present be in a position to buy a bond will be neglected.

The first visitor at State headquarters today was Mrs. Lillian Shaw of Wellesley, who subscribed for bond certificates amounting to $600. This was the first subscription from Wellesley.

From the Fields Corner carbarn employes and street car employes P. J. Crowley, secretary of Thomas McDonagh branch, Friends of Irish Freedom, collected $800.

Natick's bond drive committee has been organized with Captain J. J. Healy as chairman, Colonel John D. Murphy, secretary, and John J. Ahearn, assistant secretary. Prominent citizens of Natick comprise an executive committee headed by P. J. Linane. A mass meeting will be held in Natick Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and Judge M. F. Kennedy will preside.

A mass meeting will be held tonight in the municipal building, Roxbury, under the auspices of the Ward 12 committee, of which former City Collector John J. Curley is head, and another in the quarters of the St. Thomas' Catholic Club, Jamaica Plain, at which addresses will be made by Representative Thomas Niland and William H. O'Brien.



Front row (left to right)—Patrick J. Moynihan, State director; John Morton, Rev. Philip J. O'Donnell, Major Thomas F. Walsh, city chairman; John F. Harrigan of Worcester, State chairman; John J. Hearn of Westfield, State treasurer; Edward F. McSweeney, Alfred B. Mahoney, assistant city treasurer; John J. Foley, president Central Council of Irish County Clubs; Timothy F. Callahan, chairman Ward 4 committee.

Second row—P. J. Melody, Ward 6; Michael E. Leen, Ward 25; Joseph L. Corcoran, Ward 16; Denis F. Reardon, Ward 14; Thomas A. Niland, Ward 1; Frank J. Horgan, Ward 22; William B. Larkin, Ward 13; Judge Joseph J. Hurley, Ward 2; Christopher I. Fitzgerald, Ward 17; William H. Cuddy, Ward 5; Richard Dwyer, Ward 10; Joseph G. Flynn, Ward 1; William P. Dwyer, Ward 16.

They Save Teeth Now

In a New Way—By Ending Film

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

FREE

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent. Mail coupon. Make this pleasant test. Then look at your teeth and see what it means to you.

Millions of teeth are now cleaned in a new way. You see them everywhere—white, glistening teeth. Perhaps they are teeth you envy. Then make this simple ten-day test and find out how to get them.

The great tooth wrecker is a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It is ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

The tooth paste does not end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. So it stays—much of it—and may do a ceaseless damage. Most tooth troubles are now traced to film.

Why Teeth Discolor

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles are constantly increasing, despite the wide use of the tooth brush. And the reason lies in that clinging film, and brushing leaves much of it intact.

Dentists long have known this. They urge periodic dental cleaning to remove film and tartar. And dental science has for years sought a way to constantly combat film.

That way has now been found. Able authorities have proved its efficiency by convincing tests. Now leading dentists everywhere are urging its adoption.

For daily use the method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent—a modern, scientific tooth paste. Millions have already proved it. And a 10-Day Tube is being sent to anyone who asks.

A Way to Fight Film

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to day by day combat it.

But pepsin must be activated, and the usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth. So pepsin long seemed impossible. But science has discovered a harmless activating method. Convincing tests have proved this. Now pepsin in this form can be every day applied. And in a tooth paste which conforms to every modern dental requirement.

Now you are urged to try it. Let it argue for itself. Compare the results with your present methods. Let your mirror tell the story.

There are few things more important. Bad teeth cause endless troubles. And teeth cannot be kept white, safe and sound if you leave that film.

For your sake and your family's sake, find out the way to combat it.

Results Are Quick and Apparent

You can see very quickly what Pepsodent does, and our book will tell you why.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Once learn what clean teeth really mean and you'll always want them.

Mail the coupon to us today so you won't forget.

RELIABLE METHOD OF HAIR CARE

Hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing, we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair, that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox (which you can get at any druggist's), in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This chemically dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After canthrox shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Advertisement.

Gifts to Women

Jiffy-Jell Users Need Them and are Welcome. See Below

Jiffy-Jell made with Sun-Maid Raisins or None Such Mince Meat. Made with Style C Mold—Pint Size.

Half a Pineapple

Crushed to Flavor One Jiffy-Jell Dessert

Here is one example of the wealth of fruit in Jiffy-Jell desserts.

We crush pineapples in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship. The juice of half a fruit is condensed and sealed in a vial to flavor one pint dessert.

Yet the whole dessert costs but a few cents, ready at your call.

So with eight rich fruits which come in Jiffy-Jell. All are made from crushed fruit, all are abundant. All come in liquid form, condensed and sealed in glass—a bottle in each package.

Real-fruit flavors in bottles

Mark this Jiffy-Jell distinction. Note how it differs from old-style quick gelatine desserts. Jiffy-Jell alone has these bottled fruit-juice essences.

Jiffy-Jell desserts are fruit-made dainties, rich in fruit. The fruit taste is not mere flavor and not artificial.

People need fruit daily. Now, when fruit is costly, this is an ideal way to serve it.

Complete desserts

Jiffy-Jell comes ready-sweetened. It is acidulated with evaporated fruit acid. A rare-grade gelatine is in it, and the fruit-juice essence in a vial.

You simply add hot water as directed on package, and let cool. Then a package of Jiffy-Jell serves six people in mold form, or twelve if you whip the jell.

Yet this fruit-made dainty, rich in fruit, costs a trifle. It costs less than serving apples.

'Twill delight you

Try Jiffy-Jell in various fruit flavors. Try lime-fruit flavor for a tart green salad jell. Try mint for a mint jell to serve with meats.

Learn what these dainties mean to you. Compare them with old-style desserts of this type.

We offer you choice of several 50-cent molds if you will do this, and at once. Cut out our offer so you won't forget.

ALL TELEPHONE WIRES TO GO

Marconi Sees Triumph of Wireless Within Year with Its Great Advantages

By GUGLIELMO MARCONI,
Inventor of the Wireless.

Milan, March 4.—Within this present year vocal communications transmitted without wires will replace the cumbrous system of today.

Remarkable economic advantages will follow this, because it will dispense altogether with the cost involved in apparatus and the maintenance of lines—not to speak of the utter elimination of interruptions now so frequent through the effects of bad weather and the occasional isolation of entire regions in consequence of snowfalls.

IS USED IN CHINA.

It is a curious phenomenon that, while the most progressive peoples of Western Europe have not yet contrived to adopt wireless telephony on an essentially commercial basis, China—the most retrograde among nations—is making daily use of the wireless telephone for communications between urban centres and rural districts which have not been linked up with the ordinary telephone system.

America stands in the forefront of progress, its inventors having shown themselves capable of producing a really practical instrument for transmitting the human voice by means of electrical waves.

Today we cannot concentrate the expansion of energy within a limited section of the circle so as to reach the furthest distances, but eventually science will find a way of directing electrical energy without wires in an absolutely straight line.

GIRD WHOLE WORLD.

Once directive control has been established, we shall undoubtedly be able, by means of powerful machines, to gird the whole world with waves of electric energy without wires by the simple pressing of a finger upon a transmitting button.

In respect to wireless telegraph, I have a radio-telegraphic receiver, no bigger than a gramaphone, by means of which, without any other wonted communication with the atmosphere, I am receiving all day long in my study every scrap of wireless news sent to the European press.

Very shortly, with an instrument of this kind, bankers, politicians and business men in general will be able from minute to minute to keep themselves in contact with both hemispheres.

Very soon, too, that miserable ticking machine whereon all newspaper offices depend will yield place to this mighty invention—which is apt for news sending, news receiving, and simultaneous communication with any number of receiving stations.

Wedding Bells Will End Carpentier's Career

By International News Service.

Paris, March 4.—Mlle. Georgette Elasser, the beautiful young girl Georges Carpentier will marry this month, accepted the famous pugilist upon the condition that he retire from the prize ring after the forthcoming fight with Jack Dempsey for the world's championship. Mlle. Elasser revealed this today herself.

"I told Georges when he proposed to me that he must never again fight for money after the Dempsey match, no matter whether he wins or loses it," said the fiancee. "That was the one thing I insisted upon before consenting to become Mme. Carpentier.

"I do not approve of professional fighting. I may be old-fashioned, but that is my view. I have seen Georges in the ring only once, and that was when he gave a scientific boxing exhibition for charity."

Mlle. Georgette is a "home girl." She never appears with Carpentier at Ciro's or Maxim's or Claridge's, but is content with "parlor courting."

Carpentier's friends say they have never seen her with him in any of the flashy cabaret restaurants.

Carpentier had plenty of opportunities to pay attentions to the beautiful women who are known in Paris night life, but his choice fell upon the demure Georgette.

Mlle. Georgette's grandfather is a native of Holland, but she is of the French blonde type with sparkling blue eyes and vivacious spirits. She is a splendid skater and a lover of outdoor sports, but despite her interest in Carpentier she does not care for boxing.

POLICE TOOK VICE TOLL, GIRLS SAY

Expect New York Probe Will Expose Graft and Extortion Scandal

New York, March 4.—The first step in an investigation expected to result in the greatest graft expose and shake-up in the history of the police department since the Becker case, was taken when the Grand Jury returned an indictment against Detective John J. Gunson on charges of bribery and extortion.

Gunson's indictment is said to have been the result of an inquiry begun last July following the arrest of two young women charged with soliciting on the streets. Three girls, Rebecca Malyade, Stella Young and Rose Gonzales appeared before the Grand Jury.

Miss Gonzales is reported to have testified that she and others have been the victims of a system of graft and extortion operated by policemen and certain lawyers. She said she had been arrested ten times in the past two years and discharged by the magistrate each time.

The plan, she said, was for a policeman or detective to arrest a girl and tell her a certain lawyer could obtain her discharge. The lawyer would then tell the girl that if she would pay him a certain sum the detective would agree to change his testimony and she would go free. She said she and other girls had paid the lawyer from $300 to $500 after each arrest. Sometimes they had to pawn their jewelry and even their clothing to raise the money.

Gunson was charged with having accepted a bribe of $50 from Rebecca Malyade.

Art Must Have Wine, Says Chanler

Chicago, March 4.—"Art cannot endure without wine," said Robert W. Chanler, former husband of Lina Cavalieri and millionaire artist, who came here to exhibit some of his art at the Arts Club.

"It's the inspiration of the true artist," Mr. Chanler continued. "Take it away and his work grows stale. In like manner the abolishing of beer threatens the nation's industries. Workmen can't work without beer."

JEWS OBSERVE PURIM, THE FEAST OF ESTHER

MARY PICKFORD TELLS WOES

Film Favorite Weeps as She Reveals Her Efforts to Win Husband Back

Reno, Nev., March 4.—Many real tears were shed by Mary Pickford, it was revealed today during the proceedings at which she secured a divorce from her husband, Owen Moore, also a movie star, on the ground of desertion. The proceedings were held before Judge F. P. Langan at a secret session of the Superior Court of Douglas County. There was no sensational testimony. The trial was over in a jiffy.

The story of Mary Pickford's unrequited love was punctuated with sobs. She dwelt solely on the desertion phase of her married life. There were no statements of other women having injected themselves into their matrimonial affairs.

The actress said that Owen Moore left her in 1917 for the first time, and remained away for months, during which she did not hear from him. During this time, she testified, she often wrote Moore, asking him to return. She said that her letters often went to the extent of begging him to live with her again. Finally, she testified, Moore did return, only to leave her again.

For more than a year from the time she filed the complaint for divorce she testified that Moore has not lived under the same roof with her.

Property settlements were not discussed in court. It is understood that agreements have been reached in this connection between the principals through Judge T. A. McCarran, attorney for Miss Pickford, and Albert C. Ayres, representing Moore.

Moore appeared in Minden on Monday, registering at the Minden Inn. Miss Pickford knew of his presence at Minden. She has been a resident of Genoa, which is eight miles from here, since February 15.

In order for her to secure a divorce before a six-months' residence in Nevada it was necessary for the defendant to be served with divorce papers in the same county in which the plaintiff resided. By going to the Minden Inn, Moore gave Miss Pickford the chance to secure personal service. Moore was served with the papers by the sheriff of Douglas County within two hours after he arrived in Minden.

The budget was referred without discussion to the Finance Committee. The largest item of increase is for school expenses which are $53,316 over last year.

Morgan Hamilton and Bride Off to Paris

New York, March 4.—Laurens Morgan Hamilton, grandson of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, and his bride, formerly Mrs. Gertrude Warren, are on their way to France, it became known today.

They secretly boarded the Lafayette, which sailed for Havre Friday, without adjusting the estrangement between Hamilton and his parents, brought about by his marriage. Hamilton is said to be penniless and dependent on his bride.

His communication was addressed to the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Providence Chamber of Commerce, Associated Industries of Massachusetts, mayors and other municipal authorities of cities and towns that helped in the work.

Mr. Bardo added that while the situation is much improved it will take several days of good weather before reasonably normal operations can be resumed.

There are 150 first class and 586 third class passengers on the St. Paul. Officials believe the vessel is in no danger.

Dr. Van Dyke says the project "is one which must appeal strongly to the patriotic hearts of the people of the United States."

ELUDE POLICE OF NEW ORLEANS

Boston Inspectors Get Hirshfeld, Alleged Stock Swindler, Away

After a comedy of errors in New Orleans, in which local police were eluded in a perfectly legal manner by Boston officers, Inspector Frederick Finn of Boston police headquarters arrived here today with Isidore M. Hirshfeld, wanted on charges of larceny.

Hirshfeld is 44, and was formerly in business here with Edwin P. Gage of Browning road, Somerville, and John H. Hoffman, also known, the police say, as John Holbrook of Charles street. Gage and Hoffman were arrested in January. The three are charged with larceny of $4,000 from Marie K. Volk of No. 101 Mountfort street, Back Bay, through oil stock alleged to be worthless. Their firm was located at No. 161 Devonshire street.

When Gage and Hoffman were arrested, Hirshfeld left town.

Inspector Finn, accompanied by Inspector Stephen Flaherty, went to New Orleans with an indictment warrant, and received a warrant for the arrest of Hirshfeld from Governor Pleasant of Louisiana. With Hirshfeld in charge, Finn went to the railroad station, and Flaherty back to their hotel for their luggage. While there he was served with a writ of habeas corpus by Hirshfeld's counsel, to prevent the extradition of the defendant. The latter, however, being in the custody of Finn, was taken on board the train while Flaherty was being detained.

Inspector Finn did not learn of Flaherty's detention until his arrival here. It is expected that Flaherty will be released as soon as the case can be explained in the Louisiana courts. Hirshfeld is expected to go on trial in the Superior Court here.

MARY GARDEN CAPTIVATES IN DARING "APHRODITE" OPERA

By FRED J. McISAAC.

The double lure of Mary Garden in the much talked of "Aphrodite" packed the Boston Opera House for the third time in as many days. The opera is the most spectacular and daring ever mounted by the Chicago opera company, and is produced upon a bigger scale than anything they have hitherto undertaken.

ADAPTED FROM NOVEL.

We have heard a lot about "Aphrodite" during the past few months. Morris Gest's passages with the police regarding the character of the costumes of the ladies in his play at the Century Theatre, New York, make the title almost a household word.

"Aphrodite" was a novel written by Pierre Louys, a French writer of passionate prose, and deals with the customs of ancient Alexandria when Venus was the most prominent deity and the ten commandments hadn't journeyed as far as the borders of Egypt.

The piece was first performed as an opera in 1916 at the Opera Comique in Paris, when Mary Garden assumed the title role and Leon Boyle was Demetrios.

In 1914 it was given as a drama at the Theatre Renaissance with Cora Laparcerie in the title role. This dramatic production was bought by Morris Gest and developed into the spectacle now running in New York.

The music of the opera was written by Camille Erlanger to a book prepared by Louis de Gramont. The libretto is naturally far more refined than that of the play, and the French language obligingly covers the most shocking sentiments from the ears of our audiences.

The story briefly deals with the love of Demetrios, a Greek sculptor, for Chrysis, a courtesan. This lady, through a whim, repulses the artist, which only whets his ardor. Whereupon she gives him three assignments before she will become his sweetheart.

STAGE PICTURES CHARM.

These tasks are to steal the comb of the high priestess of Venus, which requires that the priestess be murdered; to secure the mirror of a fellow courtesan called Bacchis, and to rob the statue of the Goddess of Aphrodite of a wonderful necklace.

Demetrios does a very thorough job, but repents his misdeeds in the opera version. (In the play there is another reason for his change of heart.) Meanwhile Bacchis, during the progress of an orgy at her residence, misses her mirror, accuses a slave of stealing it and has her crucified.

Chrysis, adorned with the stolen trophies, but suffering from unrequited love, is captured and sent to prison. Demetrios arrives too late to save her from death by poison. In the novel the gentleman takes advantage of her dying agonies to sculpt a new figure called "Pangs of Death" or something of the sort.

OPERA BALLET DARING.

The music which Erlanger set to this vivid and unusual tale is not in the least worthy of it. It abounds in orchestra jangle, long dry patches of recitative music and arias which are not inspired by melody at all. There are moments when it becomes voluptuous and even exciting, but as an operatic score it won't survive very long. Fortunately the stage pictures were so eye-filling that the musical famine was not too apparent.

Miss Garden seems to defy time. Her face and figure are as satisfying as ever and her voice, which never was sublime, is skilfully managed and admirably colored. In this opera she wears dazzling and daring combinations of cloth and color. Her back and arms and limbs are as bare as a Bolshevist's larder.

Almost equally interesting as the opera and the soprano was Edward Johnson, the American tenor, who made his Boston debut. Ten years ago Johnson was well known in this vicinity as an oratorio singer and he also appeared in musical comedy. A decade or so of study and experience in grand opera in Italy has given him a great deal. He is a very skillful singer with an agreeable voice, which is by no means phenomenal, but which is satisfying enough. His appearance is attractive and his action effective.

The really sensational feature was the ballet arranged by Pavley and Oukransky. The affair occured during the festivities in the second act. The costumes were bizarre but brief. So much nakedness has never been seen hereabouts. Furthermore, the male ballet dancers and the lady ones frolicked in a manner to call for police correction. Their gestures were graceful but unmistakable.

Hasselmans did his best with a score which didn't have any meaning, but required lots of energy on the part of the conductor.

Society in Brilliant Array at Opera House

There was another large and representative company at the Opera House for Miss Garden's first appearance. Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Sears brought a party of six, including their daughter, Miss Miriam Sears, and their son, R. D. Sears, Jr., and occupied orchestra seats. Nearby were Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears and her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Cameron Bradley. Mrs. R. D. Sears was in black jetted tulle, Miss Sears in black velvet, and Mrs. J. M. Sears and Mrs. Bradley were both in black satin.

Mrs. Wirt Dexter and her daughter, Mrs. Stanley McCormick and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bancroft were of those entertaining box parties. Mrs. Dexter was in silver brocade; Mrs. McCormick in white and gold brocade, and Mrs. Bancroft in black.

MANY RICH COSTUMES.

Mrs. Theodore P. Burgess had a party of young people including her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Burgess, [illegible] Miss Barbara Foster and Mrs. John Babson Thomas and Mrs. Benjamin F. Pitman also brought parties of young people and occupied orchestra stalls. Mrs. Burgess and Mrs. Pitman both wore black satin; Miss Burgess, nasturtium colored velvet, Miss Foster, American beauty toned satin veiled with mauve chiffon; and Mrs. Thomas was in black and silver brocade with black tulle.

Others there were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dumaresq, the latter wearing emerald green satin covered with spangled tulle in the same tone; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hobbs, Mrs. Hobbs in black satin and tulle; Mrs. James Jackson in black satin, with her daughter, Mrs. George C. Lee, also in black with silver pallietted tulle, Mr. and Mrs. William Dana Orcutt, Mrs. Orcutt wearing green and gold brocade; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Lang, Mrs. Lang in ruby velvet; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sidney Waldo, the last named in black jetted lace. ASK LAND FOR WAR VETERANS

Engineer Suggests $350,000,000 Bond Issue to Reclaim Property for Soldiers

By International News Service.

Washington, March 4.—Opening up public lands of the nation to soldiers with preferential entry rights was advocated today before the House Ways and Means Committee having soldier aid legislation in charge.

D. W. Ross, Berkeley, Cal., reclamation engineer, appeared before the committee on behalf of the Smith (Idaho) land bill, which provides preferential rights for soldiers in reclaiming waste lands for development. The bill provides for $350,000,000 bond issue to be sold in ten years for the reclaiming of land.

The bond suggested by Ross would pay 4½ per cent and be tax free.

"What effect would a tax free bond have on the 4¼ per cent. Liberty bonds which are taxable?" Chairman Fordney asked.

"The reason for the tax free provision is to make interest so low that it would be easy for the settlers to take the loans," Ross said.

"The bonds would be issued under the same conditions as the farm loan bonds."

DEATH WARNING BY CAILLAUX

Was Sent to King Alfonso of Spain to End Morocco Dispute

By International News Service.

Paris, March 4.—A sensation occurred at the treason trial of former Premier Joseph Caillaux today, when the French Ambassador to Spain revealed that King Alfonso of Spain told him in 1912 he had received a warning from M. Caillaux that he might be killed because of the Franco-Spanish dispute over Morocco.

William Martin, secretary to Raymond Poincare, while M. Poincare was President of France, and now ambassador to Madrid, gave the testimony. He swore Alfonso was in Paris in 1912 when he told of the death warning. Alfonso, according to M. Martin, said a messenger had come to Madrid, alleging he had been sent by M. Caillaux, and informed the King he would be killed unless the Franco-Spanish embroglio over Morocco was ended.

At that time M. Caillaux was Minister of Finance and virtually in control of the French Cabinet's policy.

M. Moutet, associate counsel for the defence, demanded the name of the messenger, but M. Martin said he did not know it. M. Moutet then suggested a secret session if further details were to be brought out.

The defendant delivered another speech in his own defence, pleading he had acted for the best interests of France in wartime. He was flushed and nervous, but eloquent.

"Where had you obtained the idea that President Poincare advised a French declaration of war before Germany declared war?" demanded M. Lescouve, procurator of the French Republic.

M. Caillaux replied: "I obtained it from a member of the cabinet of ex-Premier Viviani, who was present at the council of ministers."

"We must await M. Viviani's testimony before going any further," responded the procurator.

Women Need Swamp-Root

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Boston American.—Advertisement.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advertisement.

FEAR MERRIMACK VALLEY FLOOD

Haverhill Merchants Along the River Move Goods to Places of Safety

Haverhill, March 4.—With another rainstorm and a rapid rise in temperature scheduled within the next twenty-four hours, local merchants and manufacturers, with places of business on the banks of the Merrimack River, are removing stocks and machinery from basements and stores in anticipation of a flood, similar to the one in 1896, which swept down the Merrimack Valley, doing great damage in Manchester and Nashua, N. H., Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport.

Snow is six feet deep in the country, while the ice is two feet thick in the river and a sudden thaw will mean the release of torrents that will spell trouble all along the valley.

The new Boston & Maine Railroad bridge under process of construction over the river here is being prepared for emergencies.

Chief John B. Gordon of the fire department has announced that he will sound a flood alarm on the fire alarm circuits if a flood menaces the city.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon, apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

Royalties on Books and Plays Taxable

By Universal Service.

Washington, March 4.—Here is bad news for the authors of last year's best sellers, and others whose printed wares have brought in the golden shekels.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Daniel C. Roper pointed out that royalties received by authors, artists, and others are not "dividends" as defined by the income tax, but are subject to normal tax as well as surtax.

The statement alludes to the circular recently issued by the Authors League and seeks to correct an erroneous impression among authors and artists which the circular may have caused.

In other words, the money received by the writing craft and artists are not dividends and therefore [illegible] from the normal tax, but are set down as incomes and can therefore be taxed [illegible] of the law.

Fire Bares Recluse With Leg Broken

Haverhill, March 4. — After a fire had been extinguished by the fire department in the lower tenement of a house on North street in this city. Fire Chief John B. Gordon tried to enter the upper tenement. He found all doors locked. After repeated rappings the chief was admitted by William Shedd, the occupant, who was found to be suffering from a broken leg, was scantily dressed and lying in rooms filled with broken furniture, filth and rubbish.

Shedd is a registered drug clerk and has been a recluse for twenty-five years.

Agent George T. Lennon of the Board of Health ordered the tenement closed for cleaning and sent Shedd to the City Hospital.

Poindexter, Presidential Candidate, Opposes Lending of Millions to Foreign Peoples

By Universal Service.

Washington, March 4.—[illegible] of people in the United States, who are underfed [illegible] and [illegible] because of lack of [illegible] and opportunity, should be assisted before this government considers lending and appropriating more millions for relief in Europe.

This, in substance, is the attitude of Senator Poindexter of Washington toward the question [illegible]

Senator Poindexter [illegible] letter [illegible] the [illegible] revenue.

Senator Poindexter puts little credence in the statements that the peoples of Europe are destitute and starving. Recent reports of the Department of Agriculture disclose, he declares, that foreign farm products are in actual competition in American markets with American farm products, and the same is true of many lines of manufactured articles, which, the Senator adds, does not look as though Europe was in serious distress.

Behind the plan to have this country extend further credits for the rehabilitation of Europe are powerful influences, Senator Poindexter states, whose purpose it is to maintain the high prices of foodstuffs.

Future of Boxing in Boston Rests on Result of Saturday Night's Mill

By RINGSIDE.

Boxing goes on trial in Boston when Young Kloby and Kayo Muggsy get in their twelve round bout at Mechanics Building Saturday night, and we don't want a verdict to be rendered against the ring game. If [illegible] large, the Fenway [illegible] experience [illegible]

All that is asked of Kloby, Muggsy and the Fenway A. A. is that they give the public a fair deal. A fake bout, or one that has anything questionable about it, will give the boxing game a black eye.

Such an occurrence would also write finis to the boxing careers of all parties interested in Saturday night's affair.

JOYOUS DAY FOR STALLINGS

Boss George Discovers Some New Prospects Among the Rookies at Columbus

By NICK FLATLEY.

Columbus, Ga., March 4.—A pungent [illegible] of ointment and the groaning and creaking of muscles are the [illegible] about the Columbus ball yard where the Braves [illegible] through the drear and painful [illegible] day of Spring training stunts. The [illegible] isn't pale, it's full after the Winter quiet and lack of exercise.

[illegible] second season [illegible] again. Muscles and ligaments that have been in storage demand [illegible] for [illegible] abuse and Lawrence [illegible] the [illegible] member of the party, not even excepting the [illegible] trying to keep an eye [illegible] about thirty athletes, all of whom have potentialities whatever [illegible]

[illegible] George T. Stallings who [illegible] optimistic frame of mind Tuesday, is beginning to look youngsters over very carefully [illegible] they have chances. From [illegible] of the first shuffle he gives the information that Cy Morgan, late of the New England League, looks [illegible] regular [illegible] that Eddie [illegible] Brown star, shapes [illegible] and that John L. Sullivan has the earmarks of a bird who might [illegible] to his illustrious name.

Boss George Sees Some Promise for Season

To [illegible] sure [illegible] expected Manager [illegible] got into [illegible] practice, but even in [illegible] moments [illegible] the [illegible] scale of things as [illegible] rarely [illegible] the high prices hit [illegible] public. While he doesn't [illegible] to hope that the three mentioned will blossom immediately into [illegible] [illegible] a few good prospects [illegible] think he thought he [illegible] if you get [illegible]

[illegible] other youngsters step [illegible] the next fortnight and race [illegible] beginners but anyhow we have [illegible] youths being held up as promising examples which shows that the season has started in earnest.

The Regulars, of course, are taking things easy, not wishing to suffer any more than necessary. But the few workout have proved that the Rabbit's arm will be as strong and true again as soon as he whips it into shape, that Walter Holke has reported in great condition, though he was sick with the flu a little while back, and that Horace Ford is out to give the world a battle for a regular job at third base.

Snapped Up Everything Around Hot Corner

This Tufts youngster [illegible] outfit when the [illegible] lined up for its first practice [illegible] took the difficult corner, and everything that was hit down that way. He snapped the ball around as though no such thing as training was needed. He has an arm that few athletes can boast, and knows all the intricacies of the difficult position. If he shows the same inclination to hit that was his fate last season, he has a regular job sure as shooting.

Stallings for the present intends to keep Christenbury, who came up as an outfielder, working on the inner defences. The Southern leaguer played the infield in the minors, and [illegible] practice has acted so naturally around shortstop that he's going to [illegible] a real looking over.

For the remainder of the week, the Braves will have the customary [illegible] work morning and afternoon. Then with the refractory muscles all [illegible] the squad will be split into [illegible] and have the regular Spring series. There are enough candidates down here to fit out two real nines and as the stop-over will be for three weeks, there'll be plenty of chance to get a real line on everybody.

'Bugs' Baer's Column

Two more football pros [illegible] college football is as clean as a sheep killing hound's tooth.

Pussyfoot Johnson threw an eye in England. Never took a drink in his life and look at him now.

[illegible] Washington [illegible] south to keep White [illegible] again.

Aztecs didn't souse and [illegible] could run 100 miles in a day. [illegible] now are beating that record every day in an ambulance.

Jack Johnson is figuring on coming back and having his food pushed through bars instead of over 'em.

President's cabinet [illegible]

Landlords are out to make Ali Baba's birthday a legal holiday.

War is partly over. Sugar is back on the restaurant tables. When the Senate signs the treaty they'll trust you with the catsup bottle.

The flu passes up a flapper with silk stockings and jumps on a guy parked in a million dollars' worth of red flannel underwear.

Caruso said no wine, no sing. The liquid notes are still here.

Freddy Welsh is coming back. Punches his way through a pair of lace curtains every day.

Baseball Commission gave Chase a clean bill of health last year. Just had a relapse.

Height of imagination: Sophomore playing checkers in a sweat shirt.

That famous tide in the affairs of men must be pretty weak drinking now.

Filene's
'tis an ill slip that brings nobody good!
FRENCH

We see by the papers
That the Quartermaster
Of the American troops
Stationed at Coblenz
Caught the German mark
At the lowest point
So that when the Doughboys
Were paid off recently
Each one received
Instead of thirty dollars
Three thousand marks!
And now they tell us
It is an improvident soldier
Who doesn't wear
Three or four diamonds!
The rate of exchange
Is a queer thing
And hard to understand,
But that Quartermaster
Would have been asleep
If he hadn't bought
At the lowest point—
And the Filene store
Would not do its duty
Of giving the public
The lowest possible prices
If it, too,
Failed to take advantage
Of low exchange rates!

A flock of Filene buyers
Have been in Paris
Where they bought
French dresses
And French hats
And French veils
At prices that almost seem
To be next to nothing!
And they have brought them home
And will have them ready
So that it behooves
Every woman
Who values French style
And who also values
Her American dollar
To keep her eye
On the Filene store.
So here's an incident
Which seems to put
A new kink
In an old proverb,
For it proves
That a dollar
Is not without honor
Save in its own country!
WE THANK YOU

The Sunflower in Russia

SUNFLOWER cultivation has become an industry in Southern Russia, where the people have found the seeds a substitute for olives in making oil. The Russian eats the kernel. An acre of sunflowers yields about sixty bushels of seeds, and these in turn yield more than fifty gallons of oil.

Marrying a Family

A BIT OF CURIOUS HUMAN NATURE

Beatrice Fairfax Comments on the Three Women Willing to Take a Widower With Nine Children

SOME time ago John C. Wegner, head of the Municipal Employment Bureau of Paterson, N. J., announced that he had been [illegible] by a "lonesome widower with nine children" to find a wife for him.

This bit of news was very widely copied in the daily papers, and before many hours three women were sitting in Mr. Wegner's office anxiously awaiting the advent of the ready-made family that was expected to call en masse.

The picture of three ladies sitting in the Municipal Employment Bureau, awaiting the choice of the "lonesome widower," is more suggestive of the prehistoric days of "The Judgment of Paris" and the ensuing Trojan war than Twentieth Century America, where it has been practically [illegible] that all women should [illegible] political rights.

A school [illegible] that girls [illegible] ed upon to remember [illegible] the Trojan war be[illegible] pupils. [illegible] that a war fought over the good looks of three women and the fascinations of a fourth was [illegible] tially a girl's war.

"The amazing part of it is that human nature goes on repeating itself apparently on the same old model. In the earliest dawn of creation, so long ago that it is impossible to disentangle the real from the legendary, we have three women squabbling over which shall take a beauty prize, a golden apple inscribed: "For the Fairest."

The Same Mystical Number

Eons and eons of time pass, and we still have the same mystical number of women sitting in Mr. Wegner's municipal office, awaiting the arrival of a widower to make a choice.

Shall we always have a few women of this type, women who are willing to accept the hazards of matrimony with an unknown man—not to mention the nine children—rather than face the more modern method of taking chances with a job?

No, in spite of the apparent parallel between the beautiful shepherd Paris, passing judgment on the respective good looks of the goddesses Juno, Minerva and Venus, and the three ladies sitting in the municipal employment office of Paterson, N. J., awaiting the judgment of the widower with the nine children, it would seem we are going to have less and less of this "hand-me-down" romance as time goes on.

Women do not "marry for homes" today with anything like the frequency they did even a generation ago, while the most casual survey of the earlier Victorian novels shocks us by the extent to which this was done in her day. A group of women riding home from the funeral of a neighbor's wife calmly discuss her successor and canvass [illegible] for her among [illegible] sisters [illegible]

Women's Only Career

In those days there was no other career open to a single woman but that of "hanger-on" in the household of some married relative; and the amount of work that these women did without compensation of any sort was appalling. No eight-hour day for them; they worked from early dawn 'til late at night for a roof and a crust, and they were made to feel their good fortune in getting these bare necessaries.

Social conditions have been at the bottom of women's underpaid work, and have made women's work one of the most difficult elements of adjustment in the labor market in the past.

It is curious to think of this exploitation of an entire sex, going on generation after generation and the exploiters being the women of their own families. One does not have to be very old to recall the faithful spinster aunt who did everything about a house that everyone else left undone. She nursed the sick, she sewed, she darned the stockings and she did all the pickling and preserving, and sometimes she was rewarded with a cast-off garment or a pair of shoes.

A sort of humorous pity hung about her, because she had missed the only successful career open to women in those days—marriage. All the coarse fun of the playwright centres about her attempts to get married and exchange her unpaid slavery for a "home of her own."

Work as a Matter of Course

How much better girls have things today! They take up work or a profession as a matter of course, and they marry if they find a man who is worth giving up work for, or they keep right on with the job, if that seems best. The effect of the new order of things makes the average young man of today less certain of his wife than his father was, and considerably less certain than was his grandfather.

Our Hours of Work

By Brice Belden, M. D.

BEYOND a certain number of hours of work in a given day, a worker's efficiency and production rate decrease. Long hours, maintained for weeks or months, impair the health of the worker and deprive him of the time and energy that he might devote to cultural, recreational or family interests. So it is plain that exploitation of the workers benefits nobody.

Maximum output lies at some point between fifty and fifty-four hours a week. No perceptible difference in the health of workers devoting fifty hours a week and those working fifty-two or fifty-four hours can be observed.

Two States make the maximum work week forty-eight hours; fifteen make it from fifty-four to fifty-five hours; eleven make it from fifty-six to fifty-seven hours; eight from sixty to sixty-three hours, and two permit a seventy-hour week.

Fatigue is the most important effect on the worker of either long hours or intensity of occupation. Fatigue may be temporary or cumulative. Temporary fatigue, by its effect on vision, hearing, attention, muscular control and reaction rate, tends to lessen production and to increase the danger of accidents.

A longer day than eight hours and a longer week than forty-eight hours affect the health of women undesirably. But as we have seen, a very few hours more than this overtax the men. We should strive to keep our workers of both sexes well within barely possible limits.

A six-hour day would be safe and would also do away with unemployment.

"BUT it is!" he contradicted, sitting up very straight and leaning toward her. "Tell me do you agree with your mother in this matter, Doris?"—his voice growing hoarse and tremulous. "You do not love me less, do you? Are you sure that you do not shrink from my affection? I must know the truth, dear. I must!"

His agitation was increasing. She sought to check it, but as she tried to soothe him he interrupted her.

"I want the truth about your feelings!" he insisted. "Will you promise to tell me the truth?"

"I promise," she said promptly.

"Then—do you dislike to have me kiss you?"

Her tone was very low, but there was a note in it that made the eager listener know she spoke the truth.

"No, Hugh."

"Do you love me less than you did?"

There was an instant's pause, then——

"No, Hugh," with a sudden catching of the breath. "I told you that the last time I was here."

"You said then that you loved me more than ever. Was that absolutely true?"

"Yes."

"And it's true still?"

She sprang to her feet. "Yes! Oh, yes!" she exclaimed. "It is true—Hugh! Can't you believe me?"

He sank back on his cushions with an exclamation of relief.

Sense of Honor

"You, darling, I do believe you. And I love you for the sense of honor—exaggerated, of course—which makes you insist upon respecting your mother's wishes. Naturally she cannot understand how hard this is for both of us, but we must play the game.

"And," with a shaky laugh, "if I had known two weeks ago that I would have had you with me for a while every day, that I might kiss you when you came and when you went—why, I would have thought that [illegible] a fore[illegible]

[illegible] while before taking you in my arms as I did just now. Forgive me, dearest. You will, won't you?"

She dropped on her knees by him, and laid her head on his shoulder, letting it rest there a long minute.

"Mother would [illegible] this." She attempted to laugh, though her voice broke. "But it is only because I love you for understanding and for promising what you've promised, dear Hugh.

"And now I must be going," she exclaimed abruptly, springing to her feet.

"Already?" he asked.

"Yes—at once. What time tomorrow do you want me to come back?"

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

BEFORE leaving Hugh, Ruth Courtney suggested that her next call be made late tomorrow.

"We could have a cup of five o'clock tea together," the invalid remarked.

"Yes," she agreed. "I will come right up here from downtown, where I have an engagement."

She had almost told him that she was going to another meeting on the church-nursery committee, but checked herself in time to prevent this mistake. It was not always easy to remember that the affairs of Ruth were not her own while in this house.

"And you will stay to dinner tomorrow, won't you?" he begged. "I know Laura and Dad will be delighted if you will. I hope it will not be very long before I am able to get downstairs to my meals."

"It won't be long," Ruth told him. "If you obey rules and do not worry you will recover in a surprisingly short time."

The clock on the mantel pointed to a quarter before one. She stood up.

"Mother will be wondering what has become of me," she said. "I told her she might expect me home to luncheon. Goodby, dear."

He rose. I must not lose all my manners just because I am somewhat of an invalid," he remarked. "You must keep me from doing so."

"Until you are stronger, you should remain seated even when I am standing," she replied.

"No, I should not say goodby without rising. Moving about a bit is good for me, helps me regain my strength. Goodby, sweetheart!"

He bent above her and she lifted her face for his kiss.

Out of the House

"I want to take you in my arms," he murmured. "But I am going to obey you and your mother."

"Thank you, dear," she whispered.

Then, her lips still warm from his kiss, she hurried down the stairs and let herself softly out of the house.

She breathed more freely when she found herself alone. The past hour had been a great ordeal for her. She felt weak and shaky after it.

But, she told herself, the first step is always the hardest. She had had her talk with Mr. Rodney. He would explain the situation to Laura. Hugh had been told certain things that had been hard for her to utter. Yet she knew that if she would play her self-assigned part she must not allow him to treat her with the affection that would be her due if she were really engaged to him. To prevent this it had been necessary for her to use her mother's strict principles as an excuse.

"Yet I did not lie," she mused. "It is certainly true that mother would disapprove of the things Hugh might say and do while he believes that I am Doris. Mother's jealousy for Doris—to say nothing of her own sense of propriety—would make her forbid anything but the most casual and friendly caresses."

A Delicate Subject

Mrs. Courtney and her older daughter had just seated themselves at the luncheon table when Ruth entered.

"I am sorry I am late," she apologized.

"Oh, that is all right" her mother rejoined graciously.

It was evident that her disapproval of her younger daughter had lost some of its harshness. Ruth suspected that Doris was responsible for this.

"How is Hugh?" Doris asked now, trying to speak as if she were entirely at her ease.

"He is about as well as he was yesterday," Ruth said.

Then she began talking of a play that had had its premiere last night. To her relief, her mother and sister followed her lead and chat—cheerfully and naturally.

But when luncheon was over, and Doris had gone upstairs, Mrs. Courtney detained Ruth.

"My dear," she began, "I want to speak to you very plainly, so please give me your attention."

Ruth paused, her hand on the door-knob.

"Yes, mother."

"The matter of which I must warn you is not an easy one for me to mention. I have no intention of chiding you further for acting as Doris' substitute. She and I have agreed that you are obstinate in this matter, and that it is quite useless for us to oppose you."

"Unless Doris will take her own place, I must take it," was the reply.

"Perhaps so"—hastily—"but, admitting that, I still consider it my duty to remind you that engaged people give and receive certain affectionate demonstrations that are not proper for unbetrothed persons.

"How—may I ask—are you going to avoid this if you are impersonating your sister? I, as your mother, must forbid the exchange of caresses between you and any young man."

"I explained that to Hugh this morning," Ruth informed her. "I told him—as if I were Doris—that until the engagement was formally announced deference to your views should preclude that kind of thing."

Mrs. Courtney actually smiled her approval.

"I am glad you were so correct, my daughter—even while I had said nothing to you of my ideas."

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap, but it really has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

JOAN

JOAN is the feminine counterpart of John and yet it has never had the common vogue of that most popular of male proper names. Joan signifies "gift of the Lord" and there is considerable question as to whether its origin was English or Teutonic.

At any event, the name first made its appearance as Joanna and is said to have originated with Joanna, holy woman of the Gospel. She was never canonized, so it is believed that the name was adopted rather in honor of one of the Saint Johns than as a tribute to her, particularly as there are thirty feasts of St. John on the Roman calendar and only two in honor of Joanna.

In the twelfth century, the name began to be used with inexplicable frequency in southern France, when ladies named Juana in Spanish, and Jehanne or Jeanne in France married into every royal family of the time. The first English princess so called, was the daughter of Henry II; indeed, almost every king had a daughter Joan or Jhone.

Joan Makepeace was the name given to the daughter of Edward II, when the long war with the Bruces was partly pacified by her marriage. Another famous Joan was Joan Beaufort, the maiden romantically beloved by the captive James I. As his widow, she so fiercely revenged his death, it will be recalled.

Curiously enough, Hannah is derived from Joan through the German, favorite peasant name, Johanna. Hannah, however, is purely English. For a time, Joan, favorite name of queens, lost vogue in England and descended to the cottage and kitchen. It became the class name for domestics, and in this day of servant problems, one might well understand how it came to mean "gift of the Lord."

Joan's talismanic jewel is the heliotrope or blood-stone. It is an opaque stone, deep green in color, and sprinkled with red jasper, as with blood. It promises stanch affection and true love for the wearer, whose lucky day is Saturday and whose mystic number is 4.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Advertisement.

Laconia, N. H., March 4.—Wallace H. Lougee, aged 26, a war veteran, was electrocuted while working on a pole on Union avenue, this city, his hand coming in contact with a high tension wire.

Lougee's father, who witnessed the accident, rushed to notify the power house of the Laconia Gas & Electric Company, by whom the young man was employed as a lineman, to shut off the current, but he accomplished his purpose too late to save his son's life. A pulmotor failed to revive Lougee. The grief stricken parent helped to remove his son's body from the fatal pole.

Lougee was a member of the Frank W. Wilkins Post, No. 1, American Legion. He served in the navy during the war.

LUXURIANT HAIR FOR YOU?

Of course you desire it. Then read of this wonderful hair elixir, KOTALKO

Worry no more about your hair, Miss, Mrs. or Sir! Throw away those liquid lotions that are only drying your scalp and doing no good whatsoever. Don't shampoo the natural oils out of your scalp.

There's a hair elixir that is meeting with increasing favor, for it is altogether different from the scented lotions, emulsions and washes. It is Kotalko, compounded from the Three Kingdoms of Nature and including twelve ingredients, one of which is the genuine bear oil, which you have heard of as marvelous in fertilizing hair.

No matter what condition your hair is in—do not despair. Kotalko is compounded on the principle that aided Nature in giving me a full growth of hair when I was bald (see the picture below) and it is doing wonders for others—men, women and children.

I could fill this whole paper with copies of testimonials from persons who endorse Kotalko. The enthusiasm is great when a person finds, after all else has failed, that Kotalko is just what Nature needed as aid in producing a splendid growth of hair.

When Bald Hair Grown

You may now obtain the genuine Kotalko under my guarantee at the drug store, or the druggist will get it for you, but take nothing else that is said to be "just as good," for you will then only delay your use of Kotalko. Or, if you wish first to prove Kotalko, send for a Testing Box which will come to you by mail promptly in a plainly wrapped package. Enclose only 10 cents, silver or stamps, in your letter.

Satisfy yourself. You want to stop falling hair, eliminate dandruff, strengthen and develop renewed growth of strong and silk-like hair, or cover that bald spot with hair. Buy KOTALKO at the druggist's; or get the dime testing box by mail NOW, apply once or twice daily—watch in your mirror! Address:

YOU HAVE A BEAUTIFUL FACE
BUT YOUR NOSE?

BEFORE AFTER

IN THIS DAY AND AGE attention to your appearance is an absolute necessity if you expect to make the most out of life. Not only should you wish to appear as attractive as possible, for your own self-satisfaction, which is alone well worth your efforts, but you will find the world in general judging you greatly, if not wholly, by your "looks," therefore it pays to "look your best" at all times. Permit no one to see you looking otherwise; it will injure your welfare! Upon the impression you constantly make rests the failure or success of your life. Which is to be your ultimate destiny? My new Nose-Shaper, "TRADOS" (Model 24) corrects now ill-shaped noses without operation, quickly, safely and permanently. Is pleasant and does not interfere with one's daily occupation, being worn at night.

Write today for free booklet, which tells you how to correct ill-shaped noses without cost if not satisfactory.

STOCKS STRONG IN BOSTON

Trading Dull on Exchange, but Prices Advance; Active Curb Issues Recede

Stocks were firm in Boston at the opening yesterday and the strong tone was maintained during the morning, gains being retained in most instances when selling pressure was strongest in New York. At the close gains predominated, although in some cases they had been reduced. Several issues were at their highest in the last hour, however. The market was very dull, but business was of a little more volume than for the preceding session. Nothing of consequence occurred in local speculation. Money rates in this city were high and the supply limited. There is a large demand for time money and no surplus for such loans. The bulk of transactions in it are renewals at from 6½ per cent. to 7 per cent.

UNITED FRUIT ADVANCED.

After opening unchanged, United Fruit shot up five points on a few transactions. The advance was attributed to buying by traders against the New York movement. Shipping issues in the big market were boosted by talk of a new cabinet member to be known as Secretary of Marine. This issue was up 3½ at the close.

Rails weakened here as well as in New York, Boston & Maine being off half a point and New Haven 1⅜ at the end. The reaction in rails is put upon the liquidation by pools after President Wilson signed the railroad control bill. Coppers were inert. The latest report from the metal market relates to a shading of price by leading agencies. Both domestic and foreign buying of the red metal is said to be light.

BROADEST PRICE MOVEMENTS.

At the close gains ranged from fractions to nearly four points and issues to advance a point or more included Massachusetts Gas, Stewart, Eastern Manufacturing, International Products, Mexican Investment, Wolverine and Ahmeek.

Among issues to recede a point were United Shoe and St. Mary's Land. Quincy sold off two points on an odd lot transaction. Its directors have declared a $1 quarterly dividend, the same amount as was disbursed three months ago. Davis Daly advanced a trifle. It was reported from Butte that it had struck ore averaging 5 per cent. copper in drifting on the 2,700-foot level. This issue, Superior & Boston, North Butte, Daly West and Bigheart were the most active.

CURB LEADERS RULE WEAK.

Trading was quiet on the Curb yesterday, and most of its leaders were lower at the close. Among issues to show weakness throughout the session were Mutual and Arizona Tip Top. The last-named had the largest turnover. Other active stocks were Arizona Extension, Homa and Texana. High-priced oils were higher, but trading in them was on a small scale. At the close most of the prominent stocks were below opening prices.

Among gains were Arizona Silver 1-16, Truro Steel ⅜, United Verde Extension 1, Gilliland ½, Simms Petroleum ¼, and Arizona Extension 1 cent. White Oil and Silver Reef were unchanged.

Declines included Arizona Tip Top 5 cents, Homa 2 cents, Texana 1 cent, Mutual Trust 14 cents, Manhattan 1 cent, Imperial 1 cent, Crystal 3 cents, Bagdad 9 cents, Chief ⅜, and Alvarado (new) ⅜.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

A call for the condition of Massachusetts trust companies as of February 28 has been issued by Bank Commissioner Thorndike.

James H. Knowles, a flour broker, has been elected a director of the Fidelity Trust Co.

For the fiscal year ended with June last sales by the Will & Baumer Co. are estimated at $4,500,000 and net after taxes at $474,000.

The White Oil Corporation is reported to be running 5,190 barrels of oil daily through its six-inch pipe line from wells 2 and 3 on the Oakes lease in the Homer Field to the tank farm at Minden, La., which was completed on February 26.

Directors of Fairbanks, Morse & Company at a meeting on Tuesday, declared a quarterly dividend of $1.25 per share on the common capital stock of the company, payable March 30 to stockholders of record at close of business March 15. This is the initial quarterly dividend on the new no par value stock and places this stock definitely on a dividend basis of $5 per year.

Rail Deficit for January

It is reported from Washington that the net operating income of railroads under government administration in January decreased to $11,000,000. There was a deficit of $64,000,000 against the average monthly rental paid by the government for the properties, but an unexpected $53,000,000 accruing from back mail pay, under a decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, reduced actual loss to $11,000,000.

RAILROAD NEEDS CALL FOR BIG STEEL TONNAGE

It is figured by the steel trade that the mills will be taxed for several months to supply requirements of railroads. According to the Iron Age estimates of early equipment contracts run as high as 100,000 cars. The Atchison road is said to have just placed an order for 3,000 freight cars. The Erie has called for 1,000 box cars, three Western lines will require 1,000 cars each and both Louisville & Nashville and Southern Pacific will build 1,000 box cars in their own shops.

Roads will also require a large steel tonnage for repairs and other purposes. The Pennsylvania road took about 10,000 tons of plate shapes and bars last week.

Copper Metal Lower

Copper metal is selling very slowly, according to reports. Both domestic and foreign business is light. Some large selling agencies have reduced their price ¼ cent per pound to 18¾ cents for deliveries this month and to 19 cents for second quarter shipments.

Production by Copper Mines

February production of copper by the Anaconda Copper Company was 18,500,000 pounds, compared with 12,400,000 for the corresponding 1919 month. The smelter output by the Old Dominion Company last month was 2,103,000, against 2,360,000.

Lehigh Valley Railroad declared quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent. on common, to stock of record March 13, and quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. on preferred of record March 13, payable April 3.

PREDICT HIGHER MONEY RATE

American Woolen and Endicott Johnson Drop to New Low Record Marks

By BROADAN WALL.
Registered U. S. Patent Office.

New York, March 4.—Some improvement was seen in the stock market yesterday. Most of it was in the industrial list and the oils for the rails are still disappointing their friends. The only news of market importance was announcement of orders for rolling stock placed by the Union Pacific, Erie and Atchison. This caused an advance in Car & Foundry stock and a renewed attack on Baldwin. American Woolen and Endicott Johnson, which are the leading representatives of the inventory stocks, went to new low records, but the latter reacted sharply.

Money was 10 per cent. all day and brokers are being given to understand that the rate will be higher before all the income taxes are paid. Banks are warning against activity in the market and the bull party is doing everything in its power to comply with the request of banks.

While the steel stocks have not been acting well, the buying of those issues seems to be better than the selling. In U. S. Steel yesterday the stocks went to interests that usually buy for keeps. In that respect it might be compared with the buying in Mexican Petroleum. In both U. S. Steel and Mexican Petroleum there is buying for the account of persons who are not particular what the prices may be in the near future.

The bank of all nations is now being discussed in Wall Street. This institution is said to be designed to serve as a bank for international securities and government bond issues. It is proposed that its capital stock, which will be several hundred million, shall be taken in the various countries that it will serve. Rumor says H. P. Davison is in Europe in connection with its establishment.

Looks for Building Boom

U. S. Treasury officials look for a building boom. Answers to questionnaires received by Federal Reserve bankers indicate that construction to solve the nation's housing problem will be begun on a big scale this Spring despite high prices for material and labor.

IT'S WHITE AND 90c

NEW SAFETY PAPER is going to make Boston BIGGER, BETTER and BUSIER by establishing a wonderful new industry of the Gillette variety—not a Safety Razor but the NEW Safety Paper. IT'S WHITE.

You broad, open-minded Investors who were too conservative to tackle the fortune-makers that Boston men have started, isn't it about time for you to wake up to the wonderful profits in this Boston enterprise? For once in your life be able to say that you used a little bit of your wealth to help start something and thereby surprise yourselves by making the best investment of a lifetime. That would be WHITE of you as well as for us.

You know that the PAPER business is a money-making business, but unless you know the great demand for WHITE SAFETY PAPER you cannot comprehend how this industry may earn 30% to 60% the 1st year on $1 shares. You hear of plenty of things that make 100% to 500% yearly. We can work up to that figure, but 60% the first year or two is a good earning to begin with.

Are you willing to be shown? Then call at our office, learn the facts and do your own figuring. It will open your eyes as well as your pocketbook. Bank reference furnished.

Don't say it can't be done, because you know it can. Remember Henry Ford, King C. Gillette, George Eastman and many others. Here is a similar Big-Money Maker. The Opportunity knocks. Will you heed that or the pessimists, otherwise called knockers? Come in and get acquainted. It will help you and help us.

SCHOOL FIGHT ENDS IN COURT

Vermont Priest Seeks to Have Expulsion of 36 Catholic Pupils Revoked

Brandon, Vt., March 4.—A bitter legal battle will be waged here as the result of the expulsion of thirty-six Catholic pupils of the junior high school for their refusal to attend chapel services on the grounds that Protestant prayers and Bibles are used.

The controversy has created bitter feelings here among the citizens, and prominent Protestant and Catholic residents are aligned against each other. Parents of the expelled children say they will never permit them to return until the services are stopped.

The expulsion was ordered by Principal E. H. Walker of the junior high school who asserts that his action is supported by Dr. Milo B. Hillegas, State superintendent of schools. Mr. Walker says that if the expelled students will not return to the school, with written permission from their parents excusing them from attending the services, he will take legal action to force them to return.

Both sides have obtained prominent legal talent and one of the most heated court battles in the State is looked for.

It is expected that the Rev. Father E. F. Clay, pastor of the Brandon Catholic Church, who encouraged the pupils to refuse to attend the services, will seek a writ of mandamus to have the suspension of the Catholic students revoked.

HARVARD BAND WILL BE HEARD IN NEW YORK

MRS. PRESTON GIBSON LOSES HOTEL SUIT

Newport, R. I., March 4.—Justice Blodgett of Superior Court, sitting here, heard the case of the Virginia Hot Springs Hotel Company against Mrs. Alexander Dallas Bache Pratt, now Mrs. Preston Gibson. It was for a book account of the Homestead Hotel against Mrs. Gibson, amounting to $1,392.37, with interest $1,162.85. Attorney Sheffield represented Mrs. Gibson, and Attorney Wheeler of Providence the hotel concern. The court gave a decision for the plaintiff in the full amount. Attorney Sheffield announced his attention to appeal. Mrs. Gibson is in California with her children and her new husband.

INVESTORS ARE BUYING RAILS

More Public Interest in Traffic Securities Indicated in Pennsylvania Report

In some quarters it is believed that small investors are taking more interest in railroad securities and the January increase in the number of Pennsylvania Railroad stockholders is regarded as such an indication. On February 1 Pennsylvania stockholders totalled 120,313, a high record and a gain of 2,588 in a month.

That the buying was by investors is suggested by an average holding of 82.99 shares on February 1, the smallest on record. The average holding decreased 9.5 in a year.

LYNN CARMEN TO ASK SHORTER HOURS

The Street Carmen's Union of the Eastern Massachusetts electric railroad at Lynn, embracing 1,600 employes on the Lynn, Revere and Chelsea divisions, unanimously adopted a new wage scale and working agreement to present to the management.

The new scale calls for eight hours' work a day, as against the present nine hours. It calls for an advance from forty to forty-seven cents an hour for the first three months' employment, an advance from fifty-one to sixty-five cents an hour for the next nine months and an increase from sixty to seventy-five cents an hour in the maximum wage. The agreement, if accepted, will go into effect April 1.

Constantinople and Armenia Cap Climax of the Shame of Secret Diplomacy Under Peace Treaty; We Should Reject Whole Pact

Enver Pasha, commander-in-chief of the Turkish armies and the most forceful personality in Turkey, writes to the Berlin correspondent of the Hearst newspapers that Turkey is being "robbed of Constantinople, the earthly seat of the Mohammedan religion," that if the nation is broken up by the representatives of the great powers, "the Turk will set the Moslem world aflame, and there will be no peace in the Orient."

This declaration, sent as a warning to all christendom through the Hearst newspapers on account of the great publicity which they command, is as clear and authoritative a defiance of the enlightened sentiment of the world as if it were uttered by Abdul Hamid himself or by the Sheik-Ul-Islam.

The American has published the message from our Berlin correspondent to give it the wide publicity which such a message from such a source deserves. And we desire to say:

The Turk OUGHT to be expelled from Constantinople and Armenia made free forever within her national boundaries.

The wholesale murders of Armenians by the Turk continue because the Turk is nothing but a brute and a savage, with a fanatical hatred of Christians and an uncontrollable disposition to kill them whenever the opportunity offers.

He will never be any different, and the only way to cure this continual condition of murder and rapine is to deprive the Turk of all power and opportunity to vent his savage hatreds.

In the interest of humanity and civilization, for which we are supposed to have fought, the Turk should be driven out of Europe, driven out of Constantinople and restricted to a limited portion of Asia Minor.

He should be deprived of all sovereignty over any Christian people and of all military power. His armies should be disbanded, his arms taken away from him, and he himself made subject to some civilized nation.

Turkey is the criminal among nations, and should be deprived of its nationality and of its opportunity to do evil, as it has never used its nationality for any other purpose.

The League of Nations has tried to inflict the Turk, the criminally insane ward of Europe, upon the United States of America.

This country is in no position to handle a situation so far removed from it.

Let the European league handle it, but let it handle it in accord with the pledges these European nations have made, in accord with the high professions they have proclaimed, in accord with the first and fundamental principles of humanity and Christianity.

As long as Turkey has power, it will misuse it; as long as it has arms, it will dip them in Christian blood.

The threat of the national hero of Turkey, Enver Pasha, to "set the Moslem world aflame," is an empty threat. If Turkey, when she was backed by the brains, money and power of Germany in the world war, could not make effective the holy war she declared, at the instigation of Germany, for the purpose of arousing the Moslems of Egypt and England's far eastern colonies—if she was impotent then, aided and supported by Germany at a time when Germany seemed to be winning the war—what can Turkey now do when she is without an army and without a government that functions?

So much, then, for that empty threat.

But the allied Premiers and the Council of the League of Nations, about to transfer itself from London to Rome for the purpose of settling the affairs of the Near East, are preparing to repeat one of those shameful divisions of the spoils of war which have so often disgraced the "peace conferences" of the unholy past.

The allied Premiers are CUTTING UP ARMENIA, dividing it among the victors. They propose TO KEEP TURKEY IN CONSTANTINOPLE in spite of all the pledges given during the war to Armenia and to the whole world. The allies are casting lots among themselves for this booty.

When the United States declined the "mandate" for the Near East, England, in temporary possession of Constantinople by her fleet, desired to retain it. But France objected. France desired to obtain it, with a large part of Syria which belongs to her and a part of Armenia which she is now to get. England objected to that.

As neither power would consent to give Constantinople to the other, both have decided to repudiate every pledge to the world given during the war and to keep murderous Turkey there.

There could be no better illustration how the world is governed under a league of international diplomatists, sitting in secret, deliberating in secret, and making decisions in which self-interest is the predominating motive.

Armenia is to be divided into four parts—one given to France, another to the Kurds under a British mandate, another to the Turks, and the LEAST IMPORTANT, FAR EASTERN PART, TO THE ARMENIAN PEOPLE.

Armenia has been the object of our special solicitude during more than three-quarters of a century. Since 1915 we have given tens of millions of dollars for the relief of her people in the hope that the promises for the independence of Armenia would be fulfilled. We led the Armenians to believe that their case would be whole-heartedly defended by us, and they now look to us to secure full justice.

On January 5, 1918, Lloyd George declared in the House of Commons that the recognition of the independence of Armenia, the establishment of self-government there by the Armenians, wholly free from the tyranny of ages of Moslem rule, should constitute one of the war aims of Great Britain.

On July 11, 1918, Mr. Balfour, British Foreign Minister, in the House of Commons, stated that:

"His Majesty's government is following with earnest sympathy and admiration the gallant resistance of the Armenians in defence of their liberties and honor." . . . And referred to "the public statements made by leading statesmen among the allied powers in favor of the settlement of the Armenian case upon the principle of self-determination."

On July 21, 1918, M. Clemenceau wrote that:

"The spirit of self-abnegation of the Armenians, their loyalty toward the allies, their contributions to the Foreign Legion, to the Caucasian front and to the Oriental Legion have strengthened the ties that connect them with France." . . . And he was happy to confirm that "the government of the republic, like that of Great Britain, has not ceased to place the Armenian nation among the peoples whose fate the allies intend to settle according to the SUPREME LAWS OF HUMANITY AND JUSTICE."

On February 8, 1917, Baron Sonnino, Italian Foreign Minister, was very happy—

"To express once more the sentiments of heartfelt sympathy with which the royal government follows the constant and noble efforts of Armenia for her independence and unity."

According to Lord Robert Cecil, to General Allenby, to General Ludendorff, to Von Sanders, the Armenians played a decisive role in the winning of the war on the eastern front. For their fidelity to the allied cause ONE MILLION OF THEM WERE DESTROYED BY THE TURKS, THE WOMEN MASSACRED, THE GIRLS OUTRAGED.

Now, contrary to the repeated and specific pledges which have been made to Armenia by every allied leader, and in utter disregard of every principle of justice and of reason, the inexcusable compact, between France and England on the one side, and the Turks and Kurds on the other, to cut up Armenia and to retain Constantinople as the seat of the Turkish government, gives the lie to every profession and promise made by all of the allied nations, as well as our own, and is also in defiance of every principle of the League of Nations covenant.

This scandalous betrayal of trust reduces every international covenant and agreement to scraps of paper, exposes governments to the ridicule and contempt of peoples everywhere and probably makes another war in the not distant future inevitable.

The discussion of the exact delimitation of a boundary line between the Italian and the Jugo-Slav frontiers, to which President Wilson seems to be devoting his exclusive attention and all his dictatorial powers, is of trivial importance compared to this tragedy, this violation and outrage of justice in the Near East, dictated alone by the forces of greed and imperialism.

As for Turkey, her rule has been the long-drawn-out shame of Europe and of humanity. She has shown that her ignorance, her cruelty, her intolerance of people of non-Moslem faith are incurable.

Five hundred years ago, even before America was yet known to the eastern world, the Turk entered Europe with a sword, with massacre, with outrage, with pitiless persecution. He has maintained himself there by these means ever since, always supported at critical moments by Great Britain, to prevent Constantinople and the Dardanelles from falling into the hands of any strong power.

During the last five years the Turk has exceeded, if that were possible, the horror of the last five centuries. He is still committing outrages on our common humanity.

Five centuries of persecution have proved him incapable of mercy.

Five centuries of deceit and corruption have proved him incapable of fair dealing.

For the last hundred years, it is common history, known to all, denied by none, that the incorrigibly wicked, ignorant and cruel Turk has survived only by taking advantage of the fear and failings, the self-seeking and distrust of those who, united, could have made an end of him and his ways.

The peace conference, which has already revealed the secret treaties as to Shantung and Dalmatia, made during the war, but concealed from the United States, now discloses another secret treaty affecting Constantinople, dealing with Armenia. It is known as the Sykes-Picot compact. President Wilson is expected to accept it, as he did the Shantung violation of faith, and he probably will, as he seems to be concerned about nothing but his own vanity.

This caps the climax of the shame of secret treaties under the League of Nations.

It shows how the world is, and always would be, governed under a league, not of peoples, but of secret diplomatists sitting in Europe, ruling the world not by international law, not by any rule of right and justice, but always by might, by trade and treachery, by compromise and barter, trafficking in territories and peoples.

We should reject the whole pact.

The United States can have no sympathy with such selfish, scheming policies, and should have no part in a league false to all our ideals of liberty and justice.

Within the league we would be but a small minority under the control of a sinister majority.

But independent of the league, free from European "entangling alliances," we are able to exercise without restriction the power and prestige, the riches and resources of the greatest nation in the world.

Let us exercise them for the right that is being violated, for the honor that is being betrayed, for the liberties that are being outraged by these perfidious European nations.

Let free America, Christian America, secure the freedom of Christian Armenia.

Gaby Deslys the Victim of Vanity, Not Disease

VANITY really caused the recent death of Gaby Deslys, the famous French actress. Suffering from an infection of the throat glands which she knew would prove fatal, Gaby chose to die rather than permit the physician's knife to scar the beautiful neck of which she was so proud.

"Mais non!" she cried. "Scar my lovely neck? I'd rather die!" And die she did.

Arthur C. Jacobson, associate editor of the Medical Times, has written a special article for the Boston Sunday Advertiser, explaining the nature of the infection which took the famous dancer's life, the operation which would have saved her, and how Gaby's early life weakened her vitality and made her an easy prey to influenza and death.

Poverty-stricken royalties of Europe are working for their living. Austrian and Hungarian princesses, once the most luxurious and extravagant class in Europe, are now reduced to destitution. Some have even been forced to become waitresses in restaurants. One, once gay and proud, was denied a position as governess in the family of a grocer!

Some of them are American girls who married royalty before the war. Others were born to the purple. Read the story of their terrible descent in the Magazine Section of Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Every muscular reaction of a baby to play and exercise, caresses and corrections are factors in molding its future character, according to professors at Johns Hopkins University. Readers of Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser will learn how muscular manipulations, skillfully practiced as part of a series of such exercises, help to develop a capable child from the plasticity of the baby.

An ordinary ladder enabled T. H. Oppenheim, wealthy Newark manufacturer, to obtain a divorce. The significance of this particular ladder was that it was found beneath the bedroom window of the pretty young wife, and evidence was produced to show that Mrs. Oppenheim made frequent use of it on evenings when her husband believed her fast asleep in her locked bedroom. Read about the case in next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Letters to the Editor

Licensed Engineers

Editor Boston American:

Being a constant reader of the Boston American, I have come to look upon it as a protector of the public.

There is now a bill before the State Legislature, called Senate bill 222. This is a menace to the people of Massachusetts, as I understand the bill. It is an amendment to the present license law, and provides for only one licensed engineer in any steam plant. A man cannot be on duty for twenty-four hours, and therefore cannot be held responsible after he leaves. The present Engineers' license law of Massachusetts is the best in the country.

Pay of Courts

Editor, Boston American.

Is your paper fearless enough to take up the different wage increase grabs that are taking place on Beacon Hill? Take the Judges, when there are many honest and smart lawyers, who would gladly take these positions at half the present salary. The lower courts are overcrowded with Judges and clerks, and the Probate, Probation and all departments are overloaded and overpaid, at the present time.

Being a lawyer, I would like to know how long the citizens have got to stand this heavy taxation which goes to the foundation of our high cost of living.

A DAILY READER.

Widows and Orphans

Editor Boston American:

Being a constant reader of the American for years and knowing the stand your valuable paper has always taken for the poor, I am writing to you in the interest of the widows and orphans who are depending on the State. Massachusetts allows a widow $2 per week for each child, and a like sum for herself; she is forbidden to work, and must depend upon that paltry sum for an existence. You realize how far $2 goes now, with everything so high. Don't you think that the State ought to give those poor people a little more?

No Women Preachers?
Think of Anne Lee
Killing Is Useless
Poor Distribution

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1920.

The Lower House of Convocation regulating religious matters in England says women must not speak or pray out loud in consecrated buildings.

St. Paul is the authority.

Much water has gone over the mill dam since Paul wrote: "Let your women keep silence in the churches," and "it is a shame for women to speak in the church."

St. Paul, perhaps, was expressing his individual opinion. A different view might have been expressed by one greater than St. Paul. When He cried, at the last moment: "Eli, Eli; lama sabachthani?" and looked down, He saw faithful women, with Him to the last, but no disciples. As often happens with men, those gentlemen had business elsewhere when the critical moment came. And when Joseph laid the sacred body in His new tomb cut out of the rock: "There was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, sitting over against the sepulchre."

Paul of Tarsus, proud of his noble lineage, his Roman citizenship, Greek studies, etc., might well take the view of women that prevailed in his day.

That doesn't prove anything as to the Christian view.

In modern history women are more powerful than men in supporting young religions, or starting new ones. There is Mrs. Eddy, whose army of followers increases every day.

And there, only a little more than one hundred years ago, was the wonderful Anne Lee, daughter of a blacksmith who led the Shakers to this country, where you may still see their settlements.

That lady was called "Anne the Word." Once when a committee of clergymen started to cross-examine her, she talked to them for four hours in seventy-two different languages. For St. Paul to tell such a woman as that to keep quiet would seem unreasonable.

The European nations, or at least the intelligent Lloyd George, has made up his mind that it would not be profitable to cause absolute destruction of seventy millions of Germans and drive them to Bolshevism.

The plan originally was to take everything from Germany. Now comes a wonderful change, and the first step is to be a big loan of actual cash to Germany, that she may get to work and begin paying indemnities.

That energy is left in Germany after the war is indicated in a dispatch about the Leipzig Fair, with eleven thousand firms exhibiting, and ninety thousand foreigners. The world seems to have passed the stage when, after a victory, some of the population were made slaves, the rest killed off. That doesn't work well in this century.

Two burglars who broke into a room, gagged the woman and beat the man, have been sentenced to fifty-two years in prison. The judge regrets that he could not sentence them to death, and asks the Legislature to make death penalty for burglary in the first degree.

Such a crime is worse than the average murder undoubtedly. But the question is not "what does the criminal deserve?" but "what can the people do to the criminal without degrading themselves?"

For many centuries the law authorized death with hideous tortures for crimes less serious than burglary. That did not cut down crime, but did brutalize populations that flocked to see the torturing, drawing and quartering and other amusements.

Not long ago, in the United States a very old man, accused of witchcraft and legally killed by being "pressed to death," entertained the crowd hugely. When his tongue was pressed out of his mouth, authority pushed it back with a cane. Do you suppose that improved the moral tone of the population?

What the country needs is economical distribution. Fresh meat can be bought wholesale at fifteen to seventeen and a half cents a pound. What do you pay for it?

Government has, left over from war, thirty-two million pounds of beef, frozen and in good condition. The government would gladly sell for fifteen cents a pound or even less. There seems no way of getting at it.

The refiners sell sugar wholesale for thirteen or fourteen cents a pound. What do you pay?

In distribution and in other lines of work, the individual has naturally been concentrated on the problem, "How much can I get out of it?" With few exceptions little attention has been concentrated on the more important problem, "How can I make what I need by giving best possible service and greatest economy to the public through economical distribution?"

When the farmer gets five cents for his milk, after raising, feeding and milking the cow, and the consumer pays fifteen or twenty cents for that milk, something is wrong.

The people will read with satisfaction of President Wilson's first drive, as proof of returning health. That he was feeling stronger they knew, when they observed what happened to Mr. Lansing. To know that he is able to leave the White House, greet his friends, observe the high price of food in the shop windows and how politely to Borah, who is not exactly his partisan, is pleasing to everybody.
